Make me a solid offer. I'm only accepting BTC.

You keep leadership if the group CHANGES... NOT IF THE GROUP IS SOLD.

No selling spots but it probably wouldn't take much convincing to be able to sell spots to at least make your investment back. You can open products/services in the groups name. You can also make any changes you want or do anything you want that isn't against HF rules. Recruit and kick as you like, run the group how you like. The other leaders do not care nor do they plan on interfering with your plans.

Also willing to do a payment plan with minimum $100/week. I won't accept anything less than $500 if you go this route.

I believe the current offer is $300.

Sounds interesting, good luck with the sale Realizm.

Thanks man, me too lol. Just don't have time for Enigma and the group deserves someone who can be more active with it.

Dang, surprised a leader spot would go for that much! Good luck with sales man. :)

Just to clarify I will never allow buy-ins and any leader selling them will be kicked. GLWS. ?

big dick rick - June 30, 2016, 10:53 pm can anyone explain where that price comes from? what does a leader give you/let you gain?

Well the post above you says a leader can't sell buy-ins. So that is one thing.

As a leader you "lead" the group. You can kick and add members, and run the group however you want. Being a leader also makes you a lot more known around the forums so you will be getting more messages from people offering you any number of things from help with whatever you need to products and services because these people want to join the group. Some might say it straight up that they'll give you whatever to join and some might do it hoping to get in. Personally I don't take advantage of this... but you definitely could lol. You'll also be seen as "trusted" around the forums and marketplace. So any products/services you sell will most likely get a boost in sales.

I would probably take you up on this offer if it wasn't so pricey.

Atleast you are honest, good luck Realizm, hopefully someone buys this.

what if another leader wants to run the group in a different way?

Suprised it's for that cheap tbh. Most leaderships I've seen were sold for $700-$1k.

Good luck with selling that Realizm.

The other leaders have not interfered and have said they won't bother anyone who wishes to do what they want. But I guess if one of them says something then that's up to whoever buys this to talk with them about how they could help them or whatever.

Yes I am selling this fairly cheap because I don't really need the money and I'd rather just let somebody else who may not have the money for a $1000 spot but really wants to do something buy this.

It's kind of been the unknown perk I guess you could say. Like all of the leaders/owners can tell you how they get a lot of messages about the group. But they usually leave out what those messages say. And I'm guessing a good 75%-80% of those messages are people who have something they are trying or will to give you for a spot in the group.

sounds like its useful for scammers, but what else do you gain besides a lot of responsibility / trust?

(Jul 1, 2016 09:44 AM)Dr. Gregory House Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) sounds like its useful for scammers, but what else do you gain besides a lot of responsibility / trust?

Things you get when being a leader:

Ability to decide what a group does - What it focuses on for topic(s) such as gaming, SRPP, lounge, tutorial/guide makers, marketplace, etc.

Ability to add/kick from a group - Whoever, whenever, and however many you like.

Trust

NOT Responsibility - If you don't want to do anything you don't have to. You aren't required to help out or even visit the subforum.

Desired - People want to have the group userbar and be apart of the group. You CAN take advantage of that. For example, when my group was Titans we hosted events that required nice designs. If I didn't have a designer I would offer talented individuals a spot in the group for designs I needed/wanted.

Popular - Believe it or not but there are certain people on here you might not ever meet or talk to if you don't become a popular or important member of HF yourself. Nobody gives regular members the time of day, but if you're a leader of a group these people will be all around you. Even other group owners/leaders and some may just let you in their groups because you're now friends or acquaintances or share a similar position on HF. You'll most likely meet and get to know pretty much anyone who has larger roles in the HF community such as Marketers, Writers, Loungers, etc. Now you can just go and message these people and whatnot but if you're a group leader not only will some people just come to you, but they'll actually hang around and let you in their circle of people they trust and work with to make a profit.

Cibor - July 1, 2016, 2:20 pm

It IS fun being a leader, glws

Formant - July 1, 2016, 2:26 pm

Damn, good luck Realizm.

Enigma is a fun group and it'll be interesting to see what a new leader can bring to the table.

I get pm's about people asking to join the group only to have them call me ugly in the end ;(

HyperKing - July 1, 2016, 5:36 pm

pretty nice price considering its a leadership position.

good luck OP
