But it doesn't earn you money. Your stats may go up but you will never receive payment.

EDIT: OH GOD WHY SO MANY TIMERS?!

This is just like opening your link in 5 tabs you'll never get paid for clicking your own links.

Next time, please make sure that your program is working before posting it here and remove your bin and obj folders before you upload to GitHub.

Proof? Don't claim this unless you can prove it for lazy users like myself who don't bother checking themself.

Dude, it's a GitHub link, I haven't personally checked, but you would have to compile it and execute yourself. And if you can't check code for a download and execute IF it's there, you shouldn't be in the coding section.

--EDIT--

Just checked source, there's no malicious code in it, so unless you ran the pre-compiled version in the Debug folder (which is never a good idea), you're just accusing someone with absolutely no basis.

Actually, it's 1 view per IP for 24 hours.

Easier to just use a .gitignore instead of manually deleting the folders.
