Thread: Do you still joining groups?

Mr. WAVES - July 2, 2016, 10:50 pm

I want to join groups, but I can't see why I would do this.. ?

Questions:

Do you guys still hoping for joining groups? Why?

What about buying into one.. why?

Reasons:

Can't see new groups staying here for more than 1-2months.

Buy into a group and then it closes.. don't do this! Buy yourself a toy or donate the money to Omni.

What a white username? Buy 3pic .. it won't close

} else {

I remember I left Royalty because I'm busy irl, the group was doing really good.. everyone was working on projects. Last time I was there, I liked it. This is a group that I would rejoin if I had more time for HF.

Another group that I never joined but I always kept an eye on is Null for it's pen-testing skilled members! Congrats!

Do you guys still hoping for joining groups? Why?

- It's fun, you meet a lot of new people and it's cool overall.

What about buying into one.. why?

- You shouldn't do that, no point, unless you know group is 'good' & it will be around more than 1-2 months.

Febreze - July 2, 2016, 10:54 pm

Joining groups can connect you with other members throughout Hack Forums. Usually if you're just lurking, posting or whatever you don't really connect with anyone.

That's one of the reasons why I wanted to join Enigma. To connect with people who share similar hobbies(gaming)

Groups are shit. Buying into them is a waste of money. They are all collecting dust.

They collect more dust than my Nan's clit.

I come and go randomly and I haven't seen a group I really want to join in I don't even know.

labroca - July 2, 2016, 11:13 pm

I agree with the Royalty aspect.

But they are. Once you've been in all of them you notice the pattern.

Anyway, can you explain why "Not all groups are shit.."? I want to see what you like in them and what groups.

Grim - July 2, 2016, 11:21 pm

I dont like buying into them but for the most part they are cool place to chill without being bothered by the lq trolls that roam the lounge.

Lyra - July 2, 2016, 11:23 pm

No ones gonna accept a me into any group so it doesn't even matter for me _(?)_/_

With that attitude- yeah of course.

Spend some time on the forums, possible upgrade if you want to, and put time into your application. You never know

I haven't tried applying to one but I plan on doing so towards the end of the summer. The main reason I want to join one is because I have not really connected with anyone on this site in my 2 years here. I see lots of people who seem to have made close friendships and I haven't tried to do that yet. Pretty much just kept to myself.

For the second part of your question I don't think I would ever buy in to one.

Ahri????? - July 3, 2016, 12:22 am

I give no to little effort when applying for a group. I mainly do it to annoy the group owner and see if it is possible to get in a group with a LQ post. I find most group applications to be cringe worthy. People try so hard to get into groups and they love to post who they think they are on the application. It is as if owners can't find who we really are based on our activity on HF instead of asking for something that can be played. At the end of the day I'm done with groups, I have no wants or needs to be in one. If I'm invited into one then fine I'll be the best Ahri I can be BUT till then I will show no effort into getting one.

What about buying into one.. why?

No all groups are shit!

I've been in The Order, and didnt really feel involved, pretty boring those group tbh, it's all about the userbar. I dont see big project from a group really, like a team working together, all they do is giveaway, promote their member product, since it looks more legitimate to new members.

The Order is tbh the best group I've been in on HF in like a year.

And guess what today is? Sunday.

Groups are a great way to interact with members of the HF community.
Echo has been around for a year and a half and we don't have any plans on selling right now.

Ace Of Jesus - July 3, 2016, 8:19 pm

Think I wasn't clear enough, I'm not saying The Order is shit, or anything of this sort. The Order was a pretty cool group, at first I really felt involved, I made a couple gambling thread and all. I was really motivated, but by the time I guess of all that went downroad... So I'm the one who got bored, not the group was boring. Just like now, I'm a bit bored of HF. By the way when I said those group are pretty boring tbh, I'm not talking about The Order, pointing out all of the group, from the outside, all I see is squad shit, and drama. The Order is a pretty relax group, never really involved in drama.

Which group isn't shit?

Miniscule - July 5, 2016, 1:55 am

Do you guys still hoping for joining groups? Why?
-Yes, I still plan on attempting to join groups because it gives me something to do. I have a lot of time on my hands and enjoy talking to people with similar interests.

What about buying into one.. why?
-I feel like this defys the purpose of joining a group, most of the groups that sell spots are inactive or just simply dying off.

O t t o - July 5, 2016, 1:55 am

Do you guys still hoping for joining groups? Why?
- I've joined a few groups but I don't often stay unless I like the feel on the group.

What about buying into one.. why?
- I personally hate this as it basically fills the group up with people who have no special talents.

Zexo - July 5, 2016, 11:43 am

After being in idk how many there are pretty much 0 groups that I would try to join.

b?xy - July 5, 2016, 11:44 am

I mean, the only real reason I join groups is to share the mini community.

Tommy - July 5, 2016, 2:44 pm

Not really cared about groups since I sold my one 7-8 months ago. I've been invited to a few but I tend to leave after a few days lol. Only group I've stayed in has been Echo for roughly 16-17 months.

They don't last long enough to even consider buying.

Well there are forums to talk about those things too so I don't see why OP and you are so butthurt about this, like just deal with it.

Forums is enough non? Why making shitty groups for them? I know that a community must have a bit on everything but only 1 of 16 is a pentesting group and it's for sale.. People that guy here join to hack a FB account not to become gay or joining anime groups. Those people that join here to hack a FB account will understand and see groups about hacking, tutorials and they will learn something that may be good for their future career.
