Thread: I got stood up...

Confound - July 4, 2016, 9:11 pm

Was supposed to meet a girl from [BRAND NAME REMOVED] in a park in the city i live in this afternoon and she ignored me and didn't show up.

Some background:

This girl is really cool, great style, super into fashion, tall and pretty attractive. She got dem nice long legs :)

That said, we've been texting for like 5 days now and we clearly were hitting it off; similar beliefs, similar mindset, were into the same music, same kind of stuff, fashion etc.

I was going to come into the city this weekend to see her too actually, but I didn't cuz I had some shit going on, so we moved it to monday (im now posting this at 12:00 am on Tuesday, so it was technically yesterday).

Anyways we were texting all day on Monday, and talking about meeting up later in the afternoon/early evening. Talking about what we wanted to do. What we should do, either get dinner/hang in a park/walk around,etc.

We agreed on a park, and as I was leaving my place, i texted her saying hey im coming over ill be there in 45 minutes, see you then.

The iMessage text never went through. I get closer to the park and i text her again saying im gonna be there soon. Didn't go through.

Im a little confused, but maybe her phone just died or some shit, or she's in the subway and doesn't have service.

Anyways I get to the park, sit there for about 15 minutes, and then some older gentleman, 75 years old sits down next to me with his 3 dogs. I love dogs, so naturally we started a conversation.

talked about my dogs, about his life, he's got kids, grand kids, and even two great grand kids. He turned out to be a remarkable guy with a really interesting story. He happens to be black, married a white woman, had their kids, the woman then died, and he then remarried another white woman, didn't have any more kids wit her, but theyve been married for 40+ years now. Anyways about 50 minutes or an hour go by with me talking to this great interesting guy, and im like fuck it ok she's no coming, so i bid farewell with the kind gentleman and I head off. I think ok ill call her one last time before I leave. One ring, then straight to voicemail.

I then leave the park and head back up home, where I meet a friend and his dad for dinner. After dinner, I think about it, and I check what else might be going on. We're walking home from dinner and im looking at her instagram, and I wasn't following her anymore, and there were no posts on her page. Im like ok well she blocked me, thats no good. I then go to snapchat, and I can't seem to be able to send her a snap. She's not on my friends list anymore. Ok so she blocked me there too. I take a look and see if I can find her on Facebook, she wasn't there. (For Facebook, we weren't friends, but I remember looking for her page a few days ago, and could very easily find her).

Anyways, now im stuck at my friends house sleeping over, thinking what the fuck went wrong?

- I was extremely calm and composed throughout the entire few days talking to her.
- She seemed extremely interested in me, blah blah, she wanted to meet me, and I genuinely think she was serious too.

Then all of a sudden, it flipped completely, in a blink of an eye.

I have to say im kind of disappointed. Of course [BRAND NAME REMOVED] is a hit or a miss, what ever. But she seemed cool.

On top of that, above all, with my personality, I just wish she was honest. I would have much rather she texted me saying oh hey I can't actually meet today, and then she could slowly just give me signals like ignoring me or just acting shady so I got the message that she wasn't interested. That would have been fine. Im ok with that. BUT Instead, she leaves me hanging, I spend like over an hour commuting to see her, and I spent money getting there. LOL.

So yeah guys let me know what you think. And for all of you skids out there saying I got catfished, or she is an Ewhore, just save it.

She is a girl who goes to college near me, she is real. We snapped, She's got a detailed instagram, and a real facbeook.

She aint a part of the hacker world, so save your weird hacker responses for another thread, and have a heart to hear with me.

Thanks for reading.

It may be possible she's uber sensitive and when your text didn't go through she may have gotten a red-flag in her head and thought you were standing her up or some shit. Idk dick about her but unless something else happened she just stood you up for no reason other than she felt like it.

teh?ompany - July 4, 2016, 9:20 pm weird. I wouldn't think that their would be anything wrong with you. maybe her boyfriend got back with her and she had to block you so you couldn't contact her and her bf wouldnt find out about you.

I appreciate the legitimate response. Thanks for taking the time. Yeah I'm a bit confused my self. She didn't seem like a non-genuine person. I am not convinced she just stood me up cuz she felt like it. Im thinking she either got scared, never truly wanted to meet me, or she did at first and then something happened that made her have second thoughts.

Yeah this is a viable possibility but im like 99% sure she was single. We live in a city, and through social media I'd see past pictures of a guy. They didn't exist. So as much as its possible, I don't think that was the case in this scenario.

Thanks for the response.

I never used online dating for this reason haha, not that I wouldn't consider it but I don't wanna deal with wasting my time with people who are catfishes/ewhores. Have you used [BRAND NAME REMOVED] before this and found it reliable?

Yeah I live in a big city. every girl is real other than the clear ewhores who u just ignore, but fake girls come up maybe every 1/100 girls. I don't know if that is the case for more suburban/rural areas, but here its fine. Ive met 5 girls thus far. 3 were dope, 2 were not so dope, but still normal, and fine interactions with all of them.

Did you say anything that could've scared her off? There is a small percent, that something you said triggered her, and not have realized it. There also could've been a chance that she was a girl that was taken and was trying to whore around [BRAND NAME REMOVED]. Or maybe she was just a cunt and felt like ruining someone's day/night.

Or she could've been a catfish, there is always that possibility.

I think she just didn't feel like meeting.

She had previously told me she was a relationship person and not into random hookups. But she still uses [BRAND NAME REMOVED] so that is contradictory. I don't really know to be honest. But its over I guess haha :)

3mpty - July 5, 2016, 10:46 am

I'm sorry to hear that man. that really sucks. Most people don't weigh their actions with the consequences that follow. she probably had better plans in her mind, or an Ex she was still deciding if she had feelings for. My best advice express your honest feelings re guarding what happened... and if she doesn't take it seriously... she isn't worth your time... Unfortunately that is hard for most people to realize. Better she hurt you now then when you became super attached.

I think this is the most reasonable response thus far. Im kind of thinking she just didn't want to meet me and didn't know how to deal with it. Instead of saying nvm Monday isn't going to work, and then continue to distance herself from me to the point where I would then get the message that she wast interested, she just cut me off completely.

Im just guessing she got nervous or some shit.

I think part of this is very accurate. Although we talked the past few days and one thing that came up in our conversations was that she has met people from [BRAND NAME REMOVED] before, and that she even had a past relationship (or tried a relationship) with a [BRAND NAME REMOVED] boy for like 3 months. But then he turned out to be a bad guy cuz he had a girlfriend and was cheating with this girl. Maybe she didn't want to get hurt again? Quite an interesting outcome, happened to me a couple times as well.

Some people are just naturally assholes that don't care about that if they know their is no repercussions from blocking a random person.

Could be multiple factors, maybe she was scared to meet you (doesn't explain the blocking, though), or maybe something actually happened and she was too scared to tell you she couldn't come.

Time will tell, personally what I'd do is just add her on a different account and if she accepts it / has any new social media posts despite ignoring you just move on bro.

This should go in Innuendo so the pussy Gods can give you a step-by-step tutorial on what to do next.

(Jul 5, 2016 08:37 PM)yungs?lfi?god Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Quite an interesting outcome, happened to me a couple times as well.

Some people are just naturally assholes that don't care about that if they know their is no repercussions from blocking a random person.

Could be multiple factors, maybe she was scared to meet you (doesn't explain the blocking, though), or maybe something actually happened and she was too scared to tell you she couldn't come.

Thanks for the well thought out response. i appreciate it.

If anyone wants to help me out with an SMS bomb maybe that will do the trick ;)

Are there any news regarding the case? Did you talk to her afterwards?

funtela - July 6, 2016, 8:14 am

Damn bro this sucks to hear. But that's [BRAND NAME REMOVED] for you and that's why I don't trust it. I'd rather just meet girls in person than any of those apps.

Desolate Night - July 6, 2016, 8:16 am

I wonder what kind of female needs to use a dating application to find a guy.
Simply go clubbing and find one, that's what girls here do.

Haven't heard from her. I found her on Facebook though so that leads me to believe she didn't block me on there too haha!

Yeah she told me she was a relationship person, Ironically. She doesn't drink or smoke. So she doesn't go out to party very often, but yes that would be very easy for an attractive girl. Its funny if she was looking for a relationship on [BRAND NAME REMOVED], given how most often than not its for less complicated stuff. That said, I never really expressed any eagerness to just fuck her. I was fine with taking it slow. So that is also weird.

In al fairness though, you sound like a cool guy. I have experienced something similar. Just get busy with other things and dont keep thinking about it.

Did you use my picture on [BRAND NAME REMOVED] again?

I bet she turned up expecting some sexy ass stud to be sat waiting and instead she found your fugly ass and ran away before blocking you.

THIS.. How'd you guess?!?! I was just hoping shed think we were similar looking... fuck

Alex DeLarge - July 6, 2016, 9:26 am

Maybe past experiences put her off? Maybe the idea of a park scared her? Maybe she watched something and she suffers some form of paranoia? Maybe she found your social media and anything could have ticked her off?

For example, I met my girlfriend in the weirdest way possible and we spoke for a long ass time before meeting up and when we did we connected straight away and have been together ever since, but there were plenty things I accidentally said that made her worry.

Girls are crazy in the head man, I'd avoid [BRAND NAME REMOVED].. kinda girls that will get bored, dump you and then join the app saying they need a "real man."

Go do your hobby, you'll meet someone when the time is right and when the connection fits.

Sorry to hear what happened, don't let it knock your confidence buddy.

Unlucky tho bro, I kinda feel your pain. I had a "sure thing" on Saturday night but she ran off when I got jumped ?

LayndR - July 6, 2016, 9:52 am

I hope you will see that old man again. I at least would like to meet someone like that lmao

Yeah some of this is possible. She had all my social media way before hand. So its weird. She said she liked all of it, we snap chatted.. etc. But you're right who knows.
