Thread: Personal Suicide / Depression Hotline

Grand Reserve - July 5, 2016, 9:17 pm

This will probably get overlooked because I'm not upgraded, but I saw a thread of a user (RenRaikou) committed suicide and it upset me even though I didn't know the guy.

I run my own suicide hotline, which I have helped over 200 people (with proof, for all you people saying I'm a faker) and I just wanted you guys to know that regardless of who I am, what you're feeling, etc. I'm here for you.

Send me a PM and I'll either give you my Sideline number or my Skype.

100% confidential, no one will even know you messaged me.

This was really un-needed and I'm not sure why you felt the need to say this on the thread.

At least not for the people I know.

Also wouldn't you rather talk to a friend or something?

Talking does help in some cases.

Still dont why you needed to try and trash his thread for no reason, straight up a cunt move.

Talking actually does if you do it right. Some people prefer talking to someone they don't know. I can't tell their mom, their dad, their other friends, etc.

Everything that is said to me stays with me.

I honestly hope that guy beats the shit out of you. The guy you know who goes to the same Uni as you.

@OP, I used to have a similar helpdesk on HF before but I closed it until further notice.
Message me on Skype if you wanna collab.

Some people don't have friends they can talk to.

He is trying to do something right and you just come to try to put him down.

He is trying to do something right and you just come to try to put him down.I am not trying to put anyone in a down mood. Stop being so dramatic or sensitive. I was just sharing in a way how I don't believe in anti-suicide hotlines.

ST4RLORD - July 5, 2016, 9:40 pm

Hey man.

I used to run a website adviceforall.org back in the day before I closed and restarted it I had over 1000 members on the forums and was able to help people out.

It's a good thing you're doing, I tried re-starting my site but it's been difficult, maybe we could work together? LMK, if not, keep up the good work.

Peace & Love

People just need to remember that suicide is permanent solution to a temporary problem. <3

Gary - July 5, 2016, 9:45 pm

And OP just got closed while we were talking on Skype.

Na fam sometimes it's a temporary solution for a permanent problem.

Death over life any day. I may sound ego, because I'm healthy and all.. But that's just my view/opinion. I don't plan on reproducing either obviously. What a horrible place to bring a child on.

I'm with this guy tbh I want kids to be able to attach myself to another living human but then I will die and they will have the same thoughts as me.
