I think I'd be a good match! I like to think I'm a creative fella who knows how to make nice buildings. I've also ran some minecraft servers (Never any prison servers however) So I maybe I could do a little bit of both? I've just recently got back into minecraft after a long break and it feels like a whole new experience to me. Cheers :)

I'm interested in a moderator position I have been working for and with servers since 2012-2013 and i have kept going with it owning a few of my own servers which one had reached up to 90+ people daily and others having 40+. Before that i had been staff on almost every server i had played on for my dedication to the server and how much i help players without having the rank and the times i can be on and how i approach problems in-game with problems that occur so that the owner and higher up staff wont have to deal with the childish stuff of the players and focus on more important things such as updates/fixes/builds/etc...

I have also another "Application" that i have filled out from another forum which i can link and or show you over Skype or pm of such because i don't want to publicly announce another forum on a post.

Let me know :P I will pm you my Skype if you are interested in adding me.

Thank you all for applying

I'm currently more focused on looking for builders at the moment

Shortly after the server is released I will post another thread with proper moderator/guard applications

Yassuo - July 13, 2016, 12:21 pm

Hey man I can be a moderator on your server and I also have a lot of experience being a staff member on HCF Servers

Dezzz - July 18, 2016, 7:53 pm

Thank you all for applying once again, I will make another thread stating the specific roles I need filled on the server

I will be thoroughly be interviewing moderators once the server is online

Pentester™ - July 18, 2016, 7:59 pm

I would be interested in the position of moderator, I have quite the portfolio and vouches with experience, I do not want my time wasted if you can promise an active good community I am interested.
