I wonder if it's time for Booter Down to make a comeback....

If that's your intention. The site's intention is only to help market booters but provide reviews from legitimate, confirmed customers.

Booter Down sounds oddly like a Vypor project...

Booterdown was a thing back in 2010-2011 long before Vypor showed up here. Was a pretty entertaining few months in the marketplace.

Yes, I was a very active part of Booter Down. I worked with Orgy on it. It was like 2012 though. Or late 11'

Anyway, what does the marketplace have to discuss about this?

I'd love some feedback.

But Customers reviews won't mean anything unless they have proof of purchasing and dstat of their problems. I think its a great idea but I personally don't think the reviews itself would be legit.

It will be moderated and reviews will require proof of purchase. This is aimed to be similar to a Yelp for booters and stressers.

You're right. The first blog post was August 2011.

We had a very good time running it. Enjoyable few months.

I may have been a bit hypocritical at times, but that made things a bit more interesting too.

Hypocrisy can be cool and edgy sometimes.

Where do I sign up?

Asatru Valknut - July 10, 2016, 3:35 pm

Interesting. Is there not a forum here? I like the signup and post listing features though.

I miss taylor wonder what happened to him he always sounded stoned.

On topic seems like an interesting concept and im sure this will increase/decrease sales on specific booters.
