Another thing to add also trick some older people. More of a trick to the eye.

minecraft.net-download.com Basacly you have the cname minecraft and your domain is net-download.com or whatever and looks more legit then other sites.

How come when I link someone like your last code that you set up it goes to a blank page with no download or anything?

Share with me the code you used, and how you used it and I might be able to help.

I can't link as I don't have 50 posts, but basically the last code you set up for URL: I have the directory to which the .html page is located. It's in my desktop. And when I open it from my desktop and click on it I can download my own rat successfully, but when I share it on the internet it goes to a blank page.

Can I PM you it or something?
