Target™ - July 16, 2016, 6:40 pm

SKYPE IMPOSTER:

So, a very kind user PMed me and let me know that i have a Skype imposter. I do NOT use skype. I only deal onsite. I don't know if they want to be mentioned, but kudos to them. Thank you.

Sadly as i thought, it was after my currency exchange customers.

I DO NOT USE SKYPE. I AM NOT "TARGETHF" ON SKYPE.

ONSITE IMPOSTER:

I don't know if this user is the same as my Skype imposter, but i've recently noticed this user was pretending to be me. CAUTION. He's also changed his username to Minimalist. I don't know how. REMEMBER; Visit my currency exchange and PM me. So if you receive a PM from me, go to the currency exchange thread and check the original thread and confirm it was me. Check name changes. Make sure you aren't dealing with a scammer. I have had two users change there usernames to mine under invisible characters. Please remember to ALWAYS CHECK REPUTATION AND TRUST SCAN!

ONSITE IMPOSTER #4:

I'm so done with this lol... The fourth person.

Don't know if he scammed under my name but he clearly knew how to take advantage of the invisible characters option. He attempted to scam a user who he ORIGINALLY had scammed.

Yep I can confirm that this guy on Skype tried to scam me.

Just a friendly reminder, on Skype you should ALWAYS ask for a PM to be sure it's the right guy you are talking too.

Target™ - August 1, 2016, 10:02 am

PLEASE BE SAFE!!!! Bumping this up. Don't lose your money.

Skype imposter number two has been added.

? TAQ ? - August 6, 2016, 11:24 am

Thank you for making the community aware of your impostor OP, be safe everyone and be sure to only deal on site with OP unless stated otherwise through pm or his post.

StuffSneak - August 6, 2016, 2:42 pm

I was one of the members he contacted as I notified you few days ago. He is kind of smart talking about MMs and all too.

Thank you for notifying.

Target™ - August 6, 2016, 6:10 pm

Yeah! I hope people see this and come a long and stay safe.

Mooncake - August 6, 2016, 7:25 pm

On a side note, out of curiosity. Is it possible to fake your own imposter ? Think about it...can't I make a Skype, scam people, then say I don't deal on Skype, and while I do that, I refuse to send PMs verifying my validity. What do you guys think ?

Target™ - August 6, 2016, 7:31 pm

Of course it is, but if you don't get PM verification and you continue to do the deal ANYWAYS it's basically your fault, isn't it?

Meow - August 6, 2016, 7:33 pm

Just ban his skype and move on, thanks for warning anyway!

240sx - August 6, 2016, 7:37 pm

Target™ - August 14, 2016, 11:05 am

It's so weird how they change it to everything exact lol. But then again, it gives a good reminder to people to always check reputation + trust scan (when applicable)

J?son - August 18, 2016, 10:34 am

He just got banned by KoH.

Sorry to see this happening to you man hopefully it stops maybe theres a "ebook" going around telling people to be a imposter for a highly repped individual.

Target™ - June 5, 2017, 10:26 pm

I had another person contact me yesterday. I barely do exchanges anymore too.

Target™ - June 26, 2017, 8:42 pm

This guy is a serial scammer, and he is targetting virtually any well reputable member to impose upon.

It was revealed how dedicated this asswipe is in another thread.

Until someone manages to get this guy, I do not see any end in the near future to this scamming.

Target™ - June 27, 2017, 9:23 am

Just crazy if it is 130k. Wouldn't be surprised though... sad how people are getting hit by this.

Sadly, I actually believe that figure, I had a few people come bitching at me saying I ripped them off myself.

Some poor Vietnamese chick got taken for $5k in AGC codes under the impression it was me behind the keyboard.

Had the user done a bit of research she would have realized very quickly I never ever deal in AGC codes, nor do I offer paid for hacking services....
