Nope.exe - July 16, 2016, 7:21 pm

Already posted in 2 places but this also seems a relevant place to post it. Not sure if x-posts are allowed so let me know if they aren't and I'll take them down. Anyways, I'm looking to teach some people to make malware, so if anyone is interested they should pm me. It'll be an extensive course going over different types of malware and how to make them as well as some tips and tricks. For details you can pm me. The course will take place through discord. Any and all skill levels welcome as it's 1 on 1 so I'll accommodate you and any questions you have. Again, for any more details, PM me and I'll reply ASAP

i would suggest you make a guide and sell it. i made mine few years ago with same motive. but never sold it. only those who are worthy enough can have it and i think you are just like me in my younger hacking years. eager to teach people.

I'd pay for something like this. I suck at learning, so reading in my own time would be better.

Hi bro I'm interested for your malware could you teach me

TheGOD1 - April 20, 2026, 10:32 am

Why would you make your own malware when you can use, something that someone else is made?

It is like trying to reinvent a bike again.

It's ridiculous to discuss hacking on Discord. Do you even have a brain? If you're a cool expert who can explain to me in two days how to write programs, what's needed for them, and how to distribute them later, I think you're trying to make money by selling dummies to newbies.
