

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Ruling confirmation regarding Bumping.

?Saadi - July 19, 2016, 5:12 am

For the Marketplace:

I'd like to confirm, is there any sort of "time" limit, like 24 hours/48 hours or any sort, before you can next bump your thread? I assume It's not, but would like some corroboration.

Assume the following scenerio:

- 1) User 1, makes a thread.
- 2) Couple of days pass away and he doesn't get any reply on his thread.
- 3) User 1 bumps his thread after a couple of days by some usual LQP, eg: "still selling".

Would 3) be considered a definite Marketplace Violation?

Also, what would an alternative be to go on about doing Step 3, without breaking the rules.

Thank you ?

SoulZeh - July 19, 2016, 5:26 am

Your simply not even allowed to do that, says here:

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=35>

?Saadi - July 19, 2016, 5:30 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:26 AM)SoulZeh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Your simply not even allowed to do that, says here:

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=35>

Thank you for the reply, Yeah I assumed a "time limit" because, literally everyone is breaking the rules. I'm fully aware of the Help Docs.

(Jul 19, 2016 05:12 AM)?Saadi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Also, what would an alternative be to go on about doing Step 3, without breaking the rules.

Anyways, any clue about this^^?

SoulZeh - July 19, 2016, 5:32 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:30 AM)?Saadi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thank you for the reply, Yeah I assumed a "time limit" because, literally everyone is breaking the rules. I'm fully aware of the Help Docs.

Anyways, any clue about this^^?

Well the only way is stated, you have to wait for someone to post on your thread.

?Saadi - July 19, 2016, 5:36 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:32 AM)SoulZeh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well the only way is stated, you have to wait for someone to post on your thread.

Hmm, now that can become pretty hard on Thread starters. Most people wouldn't go beyond Page 2.

I was wondering if there would be any other way, I guess not?

minimalist - July 19, 2016, 5:36 am

You can double-bump a thread after the 24 hours AS LONG AS your reply contains something of substance.

Posts like:

- I'm online now and ready to provide support.
 - Buy today!
- are NOT allowed.

Posts like:

- This crypter cannot be run on your OS, however you can try x product by x person because it is compatible.
- are allowed.

?Saadi - July 19, 2016, 5:39 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:36 AM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You can double-bump a thread after the 24 hours AS LONG AS your reply contains something of substance.

Posts like:

- I'm online now and ready to provide support.
 - Buy today!
- are NOT allowed.

Posts like:

- This crypter cannot be run on your OS, however you can try x product by x person because it is compatible.
- are allowed.
- So basically a bit productive and HQ post related to the product, would be appreciable? ?

minimalist - July 19, 2016, 5:40 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:39 AM)?Saadi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So basically a bit productive and HQ post related to the product, would be appreciable? ?

Yeah :)

Just remember to wait 24 hours or else your posts will just get merged.

?Saadi - July 19, 2016, 5:41 am

(Jul 19, 2016 05:40 AM)Minimalist Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah :)

Just remember to wait 24 hours or else your posts will just get merged.

Thanks, that sounds plausible. ?