So I was going around YouTube and I came across this guy name Witt Lowry. His music is really nice.

Listen to this song which is part of his "Dreaming With Our Eyes Open" album.

I listen to him because his rap is how rap should be. It should be meaningful. I hate all the rappers that rap about drugs. He does it too but his lyrics mean something instead of the generic "pussy, drugs, money" vibe.

Post your thoughts.

Me too! I'm addicted to his songs. His lyrics are deep and meaningful. Not to mention that he sounds sort of like Eminem which I also like.

I'm going to give honest feedback. I've been listening to the hip-hop/rap genre all throughout my life and it's the only genre I listen to. IMO there are people these days that are fucking braindead and keep saying "Only Tupac and Biggie knew how to rap" or "Grime is where it is now". 90% of Grime is shit, and 100% of Aussie rap is shit. (Opinion coming from an Australian). Now these 2 genres are based mostly around white rappers, which IMO white people can't rap. I'm sorry for having to say it but it's true. Don't feed me that Eminem/Logic sht because I know they can rap dw lol. Which brings me to this..

This guy can rap. He has flow, follows the beat and lyrics are fresh. He's definitely got potential. I never thought I'd find another white rapper half decent but this guy definitely has something special. Thanks for posting OP.

No problem. He actually has potential. I agree that people don't know anything when they say that only Tupac was good.

Oh god no lmao. Play some G-Eazy without his instrumentals and then give me your honest feedback. He's rubbish.

Yeah his beats are good but his lyrics have no meaning to them.

I hate people who go around saying "This guy is better" - Do you listen to more than 1 artist in each genre or are you like -

Female artist - miley Walrus

Rapper - Eminem

Hiphop - Black eyed peas

Country - Billy ray Walrus

That kind of thinking is stupid.

I listen to more than 1 kind of artist. I just have preferences like everyone else.

Dude's alright he reminds me of Eminem how he gets all loud and emotional.. not my cup of tea.

Richard Sherman - July 21, 2016, 3:15 am not bad. pretty nice. ill listen to a few other of his songs.
