

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[TUT\] Avoid possible Ban for NOX.](#)

CheGuevara? - July 20, 2016, 12:56 pm

[img]http://assets.pokemon.com/assets/cms2/img/video-games/video-games/pokemon_go/169.jpg[/img]

Change your Phone type & resolution.

Phone type:

1. Click the "wheel" at the very top right in NOX.
2. Click on "Properties"
3. Input the details of whichever phone you desire.
4. Save + Reboot

I choose the Samsung Galaxy S7 Edge. So it would look like this,

Manufacturer: Samsung

Model: Samsung Galaxy S7 Edge.

Phone Number: +01532678541 < Example

(Use your +XX and random numbers, or your own?).

Changing resolution:

1. Click the Wheel at the very top right in NOX, as you did in the first step.
2. Go to 'Advanced Settings.'

Now find 'Startup Settings' where you got 3 buttons.

"Tablet" - "Phone" - "Customize".

You want to click on 'Customize'.

4. Insert the Width and Height of your desired phone.

Samsung S7 Edge for e.g is: 1440 pixels x 2560 pixels
(Height: 1440, Width 2560).

Credits to Ehnoah at OC

Now, if you want to be even more safe.

I think you should reinstall the Pokemon go client installed on Nox.

I am not sure but it appears that when the client is installed, a unique identifier is generated that identifies the Pokemon go client.

Since on Nox it is pre-installed, all Nox users might be logging in with the same client identifier.

Credits to Summertime at OC

Stay safe and happy hunting!

STYLING - July 20, 2016, 1:03 pm

Damn this entire pokemon go get complex really quickly lol, I guessed it could be just a gps based game but this looks complex af, regardless cheers for sharing

TheMTGuy - July 20, 2016, 1:05 pm

Thanks man, when I watched a tutorial about Nox a couple days ago. I saw the guy put in a fake device name and model/serial. I didn't really know why but I just followed it. But it's obvious that Niantic checks if you are using a device or not. And most people don't fill it in so its easily filterable.

Instagram - July 20, 2016, 1:06 pm

I saw this around as well and it looked very interesting. I have yet to tried it myself but I think I will give it a go. I will keep you updated. Also what y'all's highest pokemon?

CheGuevara? - July 20, 2016, 1:13 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 01:03 PM)STYLING Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn this entire pokemon go get complex really quickly lol, I guessed it could be just a gps based game but this looks complex af, regardless cheers for sharingYeah looks complex but it's easier than it looks, and better be safe than sorry!

(Jul 20, 2016 01:05 PM)TheMTGuy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks man, when I watched a tutorial about Nox a couple days ago. I saw the guy put in a fake device name and model/serial. I didn't really know why but I just followed it. But it's obvious that Niantic checks if you are using a device or not. And most people don't fill it in so its easily filterable.

Yeah, I think this reduces the chances, I hope it does. And it would be weird if they didn't filter.

(Jul 20, 2016 01:06 PM)Instagram Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I saw this around as well and it looked very interesting. I have yet to tried it myself but I think I will give it a go. I will keep you updated. Also what y'all's highest pokemon?Yeah give it a go man! Better be safe than sorry. Good luck man! My highest is like 850'ish, nothing rare nothing good. But it will come!

Cost - July 20, 2016, 1:39 pm

Thanks for this will try it out later!

Mi2414 - July 20, 2016, 1:42 pm

I actually went into settings and saw this myself, I also think this can help prevent bans.

frowneyface - July 20, 2016, 1:45 pm

Bump. Thanks for this will try out when I'm home.

CheGuevara? - July 20, 2016, 2:27 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 01:39 PM)Cost Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for this will try it out later! Most welcome. Good you really should!

(Jul 20, 2016 01:42 PM)RetardedSkiddy Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I actually went into settings and saw this myself, I also think this can help prevent bans. Good job. Did you also uninstall the Pokemon GO app, and then re-download it?

(Jul 20, 2016 01:45 PM)frowneyface Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bump. Thanks for this will try out when I'm home. No problem, good luck and if you need any help don't hesitate to ask.

Adycted - July 20, 2016, 2:29 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 12:56 PM)CheGuevara? Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think you should reinstall the Pokemon go client installed on Nox.

What do you mean by this? Like remove the app and install it again. Not sure if I am understanding this correctly.

CheGuevara? - July 20, 2016, 2:32 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 02:29 PM)Adycted Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean by this? Like remove the app and install it again. Not sure if I am understanding this correctly.

Yes, if you hold down left-click on the Pokemon GO app in Nox, you can drag it to the "Trash bin" which then will ask you if you wish to uninstall it.

Uninstall it, and then go to Google Playstore and download the App.

soloxc - July 20, 2016, 2:38 pm

isn't width 1440 and height 2460 lol

Mr.Motivation - July 20, 2016, 3:01 pm

I reinstalled it and now the navigation thingy disappeared from the top and i cant move with wasd

MrARM - July 20, 2016, 3:05 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 02:29 PM)Adycted Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean by this? Like remove the app and install it again. Not sure if I am understanding this correctly.

It would mean basically removing any data the app has on you. such as a cached model number or something related. Nice thinking!

FlowDesigns - July 20, 2016, 5:00 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 02:38 PM)soloxc Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) isn't width 1440 and height 2460 lol
^this.

Sick - July 20, 2016, 5:11 pm

Very intresting post i have a samsung s7 edge

I will deffo try your method 2 moro its late now and time for bed ..

So fingers crossed this works for me i will update the post 2 moro after iv messed about with this !!

Thanks again op much appreciated :-)

"Knowledge will give you power, but character respect."

FlowDesigns - July 20, 2016, 5:11 pm

(Jul 20, 2016 03:01 PM)Himmayn Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I reinstalled it and now the navigation thingy disappeared from the top and i cant move with wasd

Click on "simulate touch" to activate it manually. Did not test it yet because the servers are down but I guess it is the same tool.

Essence - July 20, 2016, 5:21 pm

Thanks for the tutorial man, couple buddies got banned for using stuff like Nox & Bluestacks but I'm gonna show this to them.

Cloaked. - July 21, 2016, 4:27 am

I think the most important thing that should be added is the fact that you don't need to jump big distances. I know it's common sense for most already using this but there are still people that don't know and like to jump to cities every few hours probably.

I've been using Nox for about 2 days so far. Been playing both from my PC and my phone when I go out and haven't had any soft bans or anything. Didn't do anything in the OP but maybe I should. I only wandered around my local area however, even though I don't have much stuff around there, I don't want to risk it.

Playing on my main account btw.

Cxs. - July 21, 2016, 5:33 am

I done all this beforehand, but good tips though. I doubt they can see screen resolution etc though, but it COULD be possible. Nevertheless, it will put ease on people's minds.

CheGuevara? - July 21, 2016, 5:59 am

(Jul 21, 2016 04:27 AM)Cloaked. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think the most important thing that should be added is the fact that you don't need to jump big distances. I know it's common sense for most already using this but there are still people that don't know and like to jump to cities every few hours probably.

I've been using Nox for about 2 days so far. Been playing both from my PC and my phone when I go out and haven't had any soft bans or anything. Didn't do anything in the OP but maybe I should. I only wandered around my local area however, even though I don't have much stuff around there, I don't want to risk it.

Playing on my main account btw.

Yeah, I am playing like you are. My 'local areas'. Walking distances, bicycle distances. Never teleport. (I've done that a few times by mistake) but only like 1-3 km distances.

Never had any soft bans or anything. But who knows what will happen later on.
Hopefully we'll stay safe.

I advice you to change the settings. If it matters or not, I am not sure, but if there is a difference, it's worth changing.

Krule - July 21, 2016, 6:07 am very nice share, op maybe people and i can actually benefit from something like this. hope no one gets banned xD

CheGuevara? - July 21, 2016, 8:09 am

(Jul 21, 2016 06:07 AM)Krule Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) very nice share, op maybe people and i can actually benefit from something like this. hope no one gets banned xD

I hope we benefit from this, really do. As long as we play it safe perhaps we can avoid a ban. I mean playing safe with the GPS spoofer, not teleporting around, just walking distances a little bit each time, etc.

Stuff like that. It should be safe, but I am sure they can detect the Nox client somehow anyways. Let's hope there will be a way to stay undetected in the near future. Good luck man!

Skeetz - July 21, 2016, 8:12 am

I guess i must be lucky because i've used nox a bunch and havent gotten a ban yet, although i get it with how big the game has gotten.

Mr. Corleone - July 21, 2016, 2:25 pm

I still haven't got banned for this, but after some implementations of Niantic, it is possibly they will check for this.

Thanks for sharing, this'll definitely be useful.