Thread: Any Discord hacks?

XenoVZiionex - July 23, 2016, 3:23 am

I've been looking around for awhile and I haven't found anything on exploiting, or hacking Discord (the chat thing not the game) anyone know something or where I can look?

[EDIT] I know this stuff exist too, someone joined my server (it's a public server) and 400 bots joined. It would be cool to at least be able to do something along those lines

I think it may be a hybrid app, so if you can find XSS in the web-app it could potentially effect the desktop apps.

I mean there are like 15 0-days in the wild, from client side crash to RCE's, not sure what you're looking for.

Discords code is a heap of trash anyways.

I know someone who could provide this service for you.

PM me your discord mate!

Any RCEs? Not interested in buying just interested in whether I should quit using it.

Using a USA-based platform such as Discord is not a great idea in general in my honest opinion. They are collecting plenty of data and will happily give over chat logs if any investigation were to occur. They infact investigate certain keywords to find malicious servers/accounts, such as carding.

The vulnerability aspect only weakens it, I assume Discord doesn't have any RCE-based 0days out there (if there were, we wouldn't know how to utilize them for more than day.)

There actually are RCE's in the wild both, one click, and no interaction.
