Thread: Not getting my PSD's for the Service I paid for by sahaj uid=2440338

MrIDontHack - July 23, 2016, 11:13 am

////////////////////////////////// ISSUE RESOLVED //////////////////////////////////

In the end I paid additonal 13$ to get my PSD's while the service was advertised with "no hidden costs"

Spoiler (Click to View) Been dealing with Sahaj a while ago for his GFX Service. I liked his graphics and paid him for it in advance - Sadly we agreed that he sends me "all the files"

imgur.com/a/QDx6x

Now he's telling me he wants more money for the PSD's while we agreed upon sending all the files - I would've sent him money via paypal which he recently got anyway but I won't send him money under these circumstances.

He never mentioned that he doesn't give out PSD's, not in his Thread neither in the Skype Convo - He mentioned it just towards the very end.

Transactions:

I'd appreciate it if you guys take my Deal Dispute serious even tho I got low Rep (Also I dont know why I got a negative Rep saying "Grave Digger" a long time ago I dunno why tbh)

The first screenshot that you've shared in your thread is where we were talking about the Panels, which you wanted in two versions, with border and without border. So basically, I did both the versions for you in the payment of one, which I didn't have a problem doing. I'd suggest that you share the rest of the conversation about it, where I said that I'll send you both versions, and it's fairly obvious that I was talking about With and Without border files, when we were talking about all the files there.

"Paid him for it in advance." - I did not agree on giving away the PSD's, and you didn't just willy-nilly paid me for stuff, we had a detailed conversation about what you wanted, and as you can read in the Terms of Service of my graphics thread here, since you are a non-upgraded member, refer to #4 term of service, where I said that I will ask for advance payment if the user seems sketchy.

(Jul 23, 2016 11:13 AM)MrIDontHack Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) He never mentioned that he doesn't give out PSD's.

Neither did I mention that I'm going to give out PSD's. I've been doing graphics for more than a year now professionally, and I've never once given out the PSD's for my work. It's not just me, but most of the designers you'd meet won't give them out under any circumstances. User said that he's going to some other designer for the rest of the mock ups that he needed, and I gave the user everything that I got paid for, which does not include the PSD's. I got paid a total of $25 BTC, for all what I did, which includes, banners for Twitch, Reddit, Twitter, other than that, I did the Logo, and all the Twitch panels, not once, but twice, because the user asked to change the whole design after I was done, so I had to do them over, but I stuck to what I said in my graphics thread, that I'll work until the user is satisfied, which the user was, he said that in his own words.

Honestly, I don't see a point in this whole dispute, the user was expecting all that work done for that amount of money, which yes, I agreed to do, and I did, but I won't give out the PSD's, which is basically my hard work, so that the other designer would replicate for his future projects. I have sent all the files, all the versions that we agreed that I'd work on.

I've been doing graphics designing for a long time now, and I've worked for over 50+ people just on HF, and during my whole time on HF, I've never had disputes with any member, no issues whatsoever.

sHAY - July 23, 2016, 11:44 am

Smh, this is one of the most useless deal disputes ever. Sahaj did absolutely nothing wrong here. As a Thread designer myself i RARELY give away the PSD because of people stealing hard work hence why i don't give it out very often.

I said all the files, I specifically said all files - I did NOT say all the panels.

"Paid him for it in advance." - I did not agree on giving away the PSD's, and you didn't just willy-nilly paid me for stuff, we had a detailed conversation about what you wanted"

We never agreed on anything but that you make the stuff I needed for me. You never told me that you do not share PSD's whatsoever. We never really had a detailed conversation either.

"Neither did I mention that I'm going to give out PSD's. I've been doing graphics for more than a year now professionally, and I've never once given out the PSD's for my work. I had to wait for most of the work of this and such, you did not know the sizes of the panels twitch pic whatsoever and had to look it up first, when did I ask to change the whole design? After the first thing you did? lmao.

"that I'll work until the user is satisfied, which the user was, he said that in his own words."

I am not satisfied when I have to wait for every change possibly for days or weeks.

"I've been doing graphics for more than a year now professionally,"

So you did it on HF for a Year now?

"and I've never once given out the PSD's for my work"

That's a lie, you've admitted to me that you've given it out to others already at least once.

While I do understand that giving out PSD's might not be a usual thing, I do understand the OP. If someone told me he would send me "all the files" afterwards, I would assume the PSD's are included.

I also don't see you mentioning PSDs anywhere...? Also, just by mentioning "all the files", you get a right over being given the PSDs. Also, Sahaj has shown me what he has designed for you, and considering what he has made, the amount you've paid to him is really low. He has the right to refuse to send over the PSDs as being a designer myself, we rarely hand out PSDs as they end up being misused / leaked / leeches / shared, which is basically our hard work going down the drain.

You're just being a crybaby whose attempts to get someone to slave off their ass off for a dirt cheap pay have failed.

IMHO, this is not even a dispute.

Please, spare yourself the trouble and just /thread.

P.S - Don't be a racist.

M?xim - July 23, 2016, 11:54 am

Could you not have asked right away for the work files instead of getting back to him later? Then I understand why one would have asked you to pay more. Even if I personally would not and have never done so, I understand why.

As I already mentioned I would've paid him more in the first place anyway if he would've had PayPal straight away but he didnt at that point. If he would've just send me the files right away I would've sent him like 15-20 eur in Paypal after I would've received it. Sadly he then started bugging me about the whole thing he forces me to pay it.

Also since you're a friend of him. Why are you judging this, shouldn't this be a unbiased spot to discuss this? I don't see the point of this dispute area if friends step in without a objectional opinion.

Valid scam report. Although the phrase "all the files" can be taken for interpretation, Sahaj agreed to it. Hence, every single file should be provided to him, including the fonts as well, as the deal called for it.

If the seller did not state that he would give away PSD or you did not directly ask him, I don't think he's at fault. Sorry OP, as shitty as it may be for you, that's how it goes.

Rather than violently argue, try to reach an agreement with the seller. He seems like a reasonable person.

It really depends on different designers, some would give away the PSD's, some won't. I didn't mention about giving away them or not giving away them. Plus, I don't have a problem sending the screenshots of other clients, where I didn't give away the PSD's, and they understood.

Honestly, you're just being cheap, you expect me to do all that stuff for you for that $25 you paid, and not only that, but also give you all the PSD's for some other designer to replicate my stuff.

Dude, I rest my case, I didn't mention anything like giving away PSD's, and you didn't ask for them before payment, that's it.

No. All the files= the two files he had agreed to. Not the template or the files he uses to make his own work. This dispute is invalid as nowhere did Sahaj state that he would be giving the PSD as well as most "honest" and "original" designers won't just give the PSD to a guy for free so that the other guy can start his own GFX service? I have bought a thread design from Sahaj and he did great work. I don't need the PSD but I am pretty sure he would be up to edit a couple of small things if and when required.

OP, you didn't say you wanted the PSDs, neither did Sahaj mention about it. All files means the two types of the designs, with border and borderless as explained by Sahaj. I have bought several other GFX work before for my services and I completely understand why they do not want to share the PSDs. If you do need minor edits, I think Sahaj would do them ?

And again a unobjectional opinion comes in - Let me guess Sahaj also sent you here? Whatever a fact is that he has never mentioned that he doesn't give out PSD's - anywhere. And the Graphics Guys I always was in touch till this date gave the PSDs....so.....not saying anything about not giving out PSD doesn't make him innocent at all.

"If you do need minor edits, I think Sahaj would do them"

Not going to wait for hours/days/weeks

This Claim is valid due to not mentioning specifically anything about a Non-PSD Policy - I agreed to his terms of service, he agreed to me when I ask "that he should pack all files alltogether" when sending them to me - This is about all files including wallpaper, twitch panels etc etc etc + psds obviously.

He has never mentioned that he doesn't give out PSD's not before I ordered not while he was doing the graphics he said it way later when everything was done. It never has been mentioned anywhere that he does not give them out, either include it in your TOS or stop making a graphics service if you can't set your TOS correctly.

First off, I don't need to "send" anyone here. It's a public forum, and people will see your posts, how about you click his signature and see the thread design I did for him yourself? I don't need to send anyone here, I've designed stuff for tons of members on the forum, who were satisfied with my work, and my willingness to make any changes in future, without charging a thing, which I offered you too. You wouldn't have to wait for hours or weeks for that. I didn't take a disappear for hours while working on what you paid me for, I left, when I was done doing all that stuff, and that's why I didn't accept your payment for future projects, because I knew that I was going to be busy. Putting that aside for now.

I want you to post the screenshots of me delivering all the files to you one by one after finishing them, which you had no problems with, even if there was no PSD's in them. If you can't post those, I don't have a problem posting them. In the end, you just asked me to send them all over again, in one file, but with PSD's this time, why? Because you want them for the other designer, so that he can replicate my styles and stuff like that. And when I denied that, and asked for more money for the PSD's, you start going into older conversations, trying to find that one bit, where we were talking about panels, where it was clearly obvious that we were talking about those two files, which you don't understand about "All the files" of the panels, with and without border.

I don't like repeating myself more than 5 times, but it's like you're not even reading what I'm saying. You keep going on about how I never mentioned about not giving the PSD's, but I want you to show me where I mentioned about giving them away. Being a buyer of my service, you should be aware of what you're getting. I don't see my fault here, and clearly you're just being a butthurt because I won't give them away for some other designer to copy.

You're just being cheap by not paying for the PSD's, and giving me what I deserve. I wouldn't put up with any stuff that you say when I deny you the PSD's, just because you were being cheap and won't pay me. I'm going to have to ask the opinion of other members on the forum, and tell me if this is the right thing to say to a person: <http://prnt.sc/bwvqhk> - Honestly, I was okay to talk to you before you said that, and other shit to me, which is completely irrelevant, and that's the definition of "What The Fuck" right there what you said. It doesn't matter where I come from, I'll get paid for what I did, and the value of work I did.

" but I want you to show me where I mentioned about giving them away. "

This is irrelevant, if I pay you for the stuff you made and therefore I am the owner of the stuff you made. You SOLD it to me, you didn't sell a License to use it to me whatsoever besides that even if you'd do that I still get the right to use the Licensed Material as I want.

I was about to pay you right after I would've received everything as I've mentioned sadly you tried to force me to pay for it. It just didn't feel right at that very moment when I knew, if I'd need you to change stuff you'll be gone for days/hours or up to a week like it was.

"You're just being cheap by not paying for the PSD's,"

And again, you did not mention anywhere that you'd separately sell PSD's so therefore it's expectable that they are included.

Besides, that screenshot you made is correct, it does matter where you come from, people get different wages in different countries, and have different prices for products in their countries. It might doesn't sound politically correct but thats the way it is. Big Companies usually hire people from Countries like China, India and such to reduce costs because they can pay them less just because their economy is weaker.

I wouldn't have said this anyway if you would've stayed calm and handed the files over to me. But you didn't so I decided to say it like it is.

"It doesn't matter where I come from, I'll get paid for what I did, and the value of work I did."

Values differ from country to country from currency to currency, that's the way it is, while lets say a Developer gets in the US a lot more than a guy in India. they might still fullfill the same amount of work.

The Internet isn't a international Place to take a economical standpoint on, you offered your Services as Cheap, you live in India, your prices are therefore expectable cheaper than a Guy that lives in Europe, the US or somewhere else. That's it.

I just quoted this, because the rest of the stuff doesn't matter to me anymore. I'd love to see where I "forced" you to pay. If you want to buy something, you obviously have to pay, it was always like if you don't want to buy, then don't pay. I asked for advance payment for the stuff that you wanted me to work on, and no one would work hours for a non-upgraded member, and then watch them disappear. That's the way it is, a way of checking sketchy users. But please do post some screenshots where I "forced" you.

You got what you paid me for, and that's the end of story right there. I told you that my hard work aka, the PSD's would cost extra, because I won't let any other designer copy all that, it's just me saying all these things over and over, and you don't seem to get any of it.

Not just paid designers mostly give you the work they've done, even FREE ones do that Valid report.

Doesn't matter it's not normal to send the PSD's. This might be common knowledge for people who bought here multiple times, but for many it isn't.

All the files = ALL the files, including the PSD's. The seller should've clearly stated that the PSD's are not included, as "all the files" include the PSD files.

Dr. Lightman - July 24, 2016, 10:00 am

I agree this is valid, if Seller didn't say 'Okay' at the fact he'll gotta send all the files, the report would have not been valid

Teh Afro. - July 24, 2016, 10:08 am

PSD's are not always given out. You should clearly ask the designer if they include them or if you need to pay extra.

For example (taken from a conversation yesterday):

<https://gyazo.com/bdc43e2c027d7dd5200edc0c68f58a28>

Pretty simple shit.

I agree he should've stated it, and quite frankly if it would've been 2$ extra I wouldn't have cared about it and just paid it but he was like "gimme 20$" for them

ALSO his Thread says "There are no hidden costs" , while there clearly are.

See it like this - he never mentioned that the PSD's are not included + His thread says "there are no hidden costs"

I didn't come to postwhore.

Just supporting the OP here because he's right. I understand that sahaj might've meant that, but he should've stated that "ALL the files" do not include the psd's.

The sentence was differently interpreted by both sides, although the fault is with the seller here. The seller knows that it's normal to not send out the PSD's. Clients sometimes don't. Therefore the seller should've stated this clearly.

The client agreed to get ALL the files. The seller didn't state ANYWHERE that the psd files aren't part of "ALL the files".
