Thread: Why you shouldn't buy any pokemon go accounts

Egregious Jr. - July 24, 2016, 6:11 am

I noticed a ton of people are selling accounts. It's incredibly easy to level one with a bot, why buy one? Just wanted to let people know how easy it is to bot this.

The bot threads have been alive for long enough that people should realize this but I think some people just want an account asap for like $5 even to resell.

Maybe people don't want to run a bot for 20 hours to get to level 20. It's easier to just pay $10-20 for some people. Also, some Pokemon are pretty rare and thus the price of accounts increases if you have them.

I think everyone already knows this but thanks for informing the community I will continue to keep my sales thread up tho.

Thanks.

No one buys them here unless for very cheap, however it is an investment because then they easily sell them for 100+ $ on sites that are unaware of what you talking about.

Hell I might consider buying a RDP and running a shit ton of these bots on it.
