

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Honest Reviews..

TRAUMA - July 24, 2016, 12:21 pm

Ever receive a vouch copy? Ever bought a method and it sucked?

Why is it that when you leave a honest review on something that you were given a vouch copy for or that you bought... It counts as "Sales Trashing"?

I just don't get why if you were given a VOUCH copy.

And you leave a honest review it gets deleted for sales trashing.

Or when you buy a BS eBook and leave a honest reply it counts as sales trashing as well..

I see this happen so many times and its unfair to the future buyers to be lied to and mislead.

Nightmaree - July 24, 2016, 12:26 pm

That's not always the case....Most people cross the line when leaving an honest review.

Truth - July 24, 2016, 12:27 pm

i think there should be a disclaimer if u leave a review for a method u got for free or discounted

Ahri????? - July 24, 2016, 12:27 pm

Ever receive a vouch copy?

No

Ever bought a method and it sucked?

No

Why is it that when you leave a honest review on something that you were given a vouch copy for or that you bought... It counts as "Sales Trashing"?

Because the autistic kids who sale their public method garbage here receive any negative feedback they lose their shit. They see negative feedback as a threat to their only income.

Egregious - July 24, 2016, 12:27 pm

People try to bend the phrase. Vouch copy was originally supposed to mean a review copy, but people nowadays are forcing it to become "get a copy and vouch on the thread to prove it may work, even in the slightest."

GoFlex - July 24, 2016, 12:27 pm

Why don't people message the vouchers privately and be like

'Yo did this actually work?'

But yeah I agree vouch copies are pretty much worthless in terms of providing an honest reputation for a product.

Egregious - July 24, 2016, 12:29 pm

(Jul 24, 2016 12:27 PM)Wats?n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why don't people message the vouchers privately and be like

'Yo did this actually work?'

But yeah I agree vouch copies are pretty much worthless in terms of providing an honest reputation for a product.

Most of the "vouch copies" are actually given to a friend that the OP is close with. Most of the "vouches" are falsified. Doesn't matter if you send them a private message.

Description - July 24, 2016, 12:31 pm

It shouldn't count as "Sales Trashing" if it was a vouch copy.

TRAUMA - July 24, 2016, 12:32 pm

(Jul 24, 2016 12:31 PM)Description Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It shouldn't count as "Sales Trashing" if it was a vouch copy.

Or even if you bought it..

Nightmaree - July 24, 2016, 12:32 pm

You can leave a honest review but you can't completely trash the product.

Brendan - July 24, 2016, 12:32 pm

(Jul 24, 2016 12:27 PM)Wats?n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Why don't people message the vouchers privately and be like

'Yo did this actually work?'

But yeah I agree vouch copies are pretty much worthless in terms of providing an honest reputation for a product.

They work fine if the person reviewing the product gives an honest review.

That normally doesn't happen is the problem.

Portugal - July 24, 2016, 3:26 pm

Hm, I don't think I've ever seen these reviews.

All the ones I've seen are always 10/10 or almost perfect.

It is definitely unfair to prospective buyers.

Nostre - July 24, 2016, 4:01 pm

I don't understand the full situation as to what you said against the user, but if it was removed by staff, you may want to contact one of them. I would consider constructive criticism OK, however, straight up flaming and calling it a shit product wouldn't be.