Thread: Scammed at a nightclub

Tree of Life - July 27, 2016, 7:52 pm

So I went to a club for the first time and I went to the bar and I asked for a beer, he said it was $6 so I gave him a $20 note and then he gave me $4 change, so I'm assuming he thought I paid with a $10 note and not a $20.

When I realised that he had given me that much change, I said to him "you only gave me $4, I paid with a twenty" and he denied it. I ended up just giving up and walked off.

I know it's not much money but it's pretty annoying when you were planning to spend that fresh ass cash on a McDonald's feed after getting pissed.

Should I let this slide, try contacting them or report the club somehow?

No idea what to do! ?

edit: Have come to the conclusion that I will be going back to the club, leaping over the bar and putting my nut sack in his face for playin' me

LOL'd IRL, good read, open a DD

Submit. - July 27, 2016, 7:55 pm

Why the fuck would you give up. I totally would have got my money back, like wtf.

Pentester™ - July 27, 2016, 7:55 pm

Write a formal complaint, The bartender has a boss, It's not worth threatening legal action and there won't be much proof to backup your statements other than yourself, So hopefully they'll reimburse you.

ToxicWasHere - July 27, 2016, 7:56 pm

Open a scam report on this guy, should work LOL.

Zen???????????????? - July 27, 2016, 7:57 pm

I think you waited a little too long buddy.

He probably thought you were drunk and if you proved it he wouldn't have put up much of a fight.

Seems to me you dislike confrontation. it's okay little buddy.

dude I'm going to report the bartender to Omni

U Moran - July 27, 2016, 7:58 pm

dont go to nightclubs if youre not gonna stand up for yourself and then go cry and report the whole

club just because a bartender played your foolish ass

Black Kodak - July 27, 2016, 7:59 pm

Go in the nightclub with a wrench and tell the fuck to give you the money back.

not hard but very pricey

Anzee - July 27, 2016, 8:05 pm

You planned on getting pissed with $20 at a bar?

Don't be upset OP. I went to a strip club with $5 in my pocket.
$4 of that went to some stripper who showed me her asshole.

You're doing fine OP. Keep doing you!

BR?ND?N - July 27, 2016, 8:13 pm

I would have been like "My money sir, give me it". Why the fuck would you just leave.

JesusChrist. - July 27, 2016, 8:16 pm

If it was a gay bar in Orlando you could always try shooting a little.

Well I mean, you lost $10. I'd just take it as a loss and move on now. If you didn't try to get it back when you were there, no way you're getting it now.

Bluffer - July 27, 2016, 8:23 pm

I definitely wouldn't accept being scammed.

Last year I went to my local 7-11 and paid for items that would cost $6.00 yet they charged me $12.00.

Even though I have severe social anxiety I went back the store that night told them I wanted to speak to a manager... they told me to come back the next day and when I did I gave them a complaint and I've never seen that worker there since.

I was scammed $6.00 and got the worker fired. You should too.

Nobody deserves to be ripped off whether that's the internet or real life.

oui?? - July 27, 2016, 8:23 pm

So you paid, got a beer, got your change, said one line, he replied and you gave up? Wtf was that OP?

I kept asking him about it but he kept denying it and ignored me to start serving others so I just walked off. Oh well.

Not just one line. There's more to it but it's not worth writing the whole dialogue to hf ppl over this lol

Probably that conclusion is the best thing that you can do.

And yes McDonald's food could have been better than getting scammed for a beer.

buyingstuff123 - July 27, 2016, 8:27 pm

Shoulda jumped across the bar and beat him to a pulp pussy

Angelus - July 27, 2016, 8:27 pm

My mum went to McDonalds once and ordered a dollar double... so she got it and took a bite, it was sausage. She walked into McDonalds and kindly asked to see the manager. So... the Manager came, and insistently denied it was sausage, and told my mom she didn't know what she was talking about. They went back and forth until my mom said, "I told you... ITS FUCKING SAUSAGE YOU STUPID CUNT!" I was sitting here like, "dafuq?!"

TL:DR: Service these days is shit, and... she got a refund... lol

BronyJesus - July 27, 2016, 8:31 pm

Either he honestly thought you gave him a 10 or he thought you were drunk or something so figured he'd cheat you. If I were a bartender then I'd do the same to make extra money. Would work out pretty well too because drunks wouldn't notice, some people would be afraid of confrontation, and others just simply wouldn't confront me because I'm the person whos getting their drinks for the rest of the night.
