Customer Service [8/10]

Had issues at first with registration, but after messaging OP it got resolved quick. Turned out to be just a serial number miss match. All is well now.

Product Response [10/10]

I was quite impressed by the response time of the product. Every time I refresh the page, there is a new proxy. Here is a screenshot of my panel.

Proxy Quality [9/10]

For my needs, the proxies worked quite well. I ran them through a checker and the majority were online as expected. For being an online service and not application based - this is defiantly impressive.

Functionality [8/10]

It was quick to respond. I wish that it was searchable, but I was able to export into excel and do it that way no problem.

Overall [8.6/10]

I purchased the $20 package and I'm enjoying it. It works for my needs and I was impressed by the mobility functionality too. This isn't your typical HF product that's for sure.

Speed (10/10):

The speed is amazing, every program runs smoothly without any problem with this proxies.

Quantity (8/10):

Quality over quantity, although you can browse from many different proxies.

Quality (10/10):

There are 1650+ proxies at the moment, all high quality with awesome speeds, the website is brand new so I really think this is a good start.

Panel (10/10):

The panel is noob-friendly, really easy to manage and gives you many options to filter your proxies. You can also export all the proxies with a simple click, options: (Excel, CSV or copy to your clipboard).

Our prices are lower.

How would we be able to resell a service at a cheaper rate ??

We have more online at all times than them.

How are we able to sell more than "our reseller"?

Feel free to prove me wrong ?.

These proxies are perfect for cracking. After purchasing you get access to 3k+ online which will be at your disposal for the duration of your license. New proxies are added every minute and the existing proxies are all checked every 15 minutes and removed if they go offline.

Just purchased the product for a week to 'start by'

Nevertheless, so far I am loving it, logged in, copied the proxies, tested them and started using them. So far I've gotten quite the hits in my cracker and its going at a reasonable speed as well, definitely not the same speed as if the proxies were public.

I would recommend this product, obviously the choice relies on the customer(s) themselves, but I'm impressed so far.

You cannot sort by such specific criteria through the website. However you could simply export the entire database via an excel file and quickly filter it that way to meet your needs.

For anybody that wants to know how to do this

- 1- Select a row
- 2- Click data > filter
- 3- There will be a drop down list/button at the row you have selected.

And there, you can filter accordingly to countries.

ProxyBliss provides its users with proxies on demand. It is instant, mobile and uses far less resources then checking proxies yourself.

We also undoubtedly have a much larger database of proxies then is available to the average consumer. Which ensures you the consumer has access to fresher, faster, and more proxies then if you were to spend time trying to scrape together a list yourself.

Vindicated - October 14, 2016, 10:17 am

Would probably help if you time stamped each update next to the total of proxies available.

Especially if you're advertising it to update every "15 mins".

You can easily sort the proxies within the panel by check time. However as far as being able to see that information without first purchasing it is currently impossible.

We will look into adding this in the future. For now you will just have to take our word for it or simply checkout all our vouches.
