

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Fortune 2000 Companies/Tickers/Value

thales - July 28, 2016, 10:46 pm

Found this cool list that I'll be using in the future. It lists the company name, ticker of the company, and the company value.

Fortune 2000

Thought this would be helpful for some people.

Doctor Blue - July 30, 2016, 5:24 am

I think it might be a bit outdated. It's difficult to tell, because there's no date on the document.

Forbes has a similar list, though: <http://www.forbes.com/global2000/list/#tab:overall>

Pharaoh1100 - July 30, 2016, 7:18 am

(Jul 28, 2016 10:46 PM)thales Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) edit: why does it have that in the URL (spam/infected?)
.PDF files could store exploits.

Your antivirus software's online-protection could have had never detected such a original page

thales - July 30, 2016, 12:32 pm

(Jul 30, 2016 05:24 AM)Doctor Blue Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think it might be a bit outdated. It's difficult to tell, because there's no date on the document.

Forbes has a similar list, though: <http://www.forbes.com/global2000/list/#tab:overall> Yes, it's a bit outdated but I'm guessing it's roughly the same.

The forbes list doesn't have the company tickers, however and has a lot of international companies.

(Jul 30, 2016 07:18 AM)Pharaoh1100 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) .PDF files could store exploits.

Your antivirus software's online-protection could have had never detected such a original page
It was because I put "Click here to view". I changed it and it removed that. ?