Rip may you rest in peace homie.

I can vouch. The user 'Le Max' (<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=2880549>) hacked his account

Happeh - July 29, 2016, 5:24 pm

Your proof isn't really proof. Obviously Admin can see the IP change (if there is any) but anyone can change their display name on Skype and forge what you just gave as proof.

They changed his account email too, he cannot access it any longer.

Did he not have 2FA activated previously?

No, he was stationed overseas in the army so his phone couldn't.

He's even admitting to it.

He didn't say he was, the proof provided merely doesn't count as actual proof since it's just a Skype chat and he was just pointing out that anyone can change the name and picture to suit his and admins will know or not if he is really hacked.

The account is definitely hacked, quite shady if you see the Trust Scan. 11 Matching IPs, everything changed today.

The account will probably be repkilled and banned until original owner claims it back.

Sadly there's no staff online rn :~(

? TAQ ? - July 29, 2016, 5:36 pm

Should contact staff about this situation directly OP, turn this into a community alert to warn others by adding ID to title.

Le Max - July 29, 2016, 5:38 pm

If I was the one who was in his account right now, don't you think that I would be banned or something by now. Quit spreading lies you pathetic scrub, his password got hacked due to a KDNETWORKS.NET hosting company database leak.

No staff is currently online, you are hacking the account. How else would you be the only one that knows about a "leak"?
