You laugh but people have fallen for scams like this when the original has had 1000 more rep and more awards. Its airy how far these kids go man.

Red???????? - July 29, 2016, 6:11 pm

Holy shit I wouldn't even have told a difference since you both have 500+ rep

They fall for it, because they don't look into who they're dealing with and simply go with the first "deal" they can get, and end up getting scammed.

It's easy, if you was to use OP as a currency exchange, you could just click "PM" directly from his currency exchange thread, rather than waiting for the other user to PM you. (if he's trying to scam members). ?
