Thread: How you guys hack websites easily?

LadyShakti - August 2, 2016, 12:59 am

I am learning web hacking and reading an ebook "Web Pentesting with Kali"

I know html injection, little bit sql injection but don't know how to use these vulnerabilities to hack websites like shelling website, rooting website, symlink etc etc

Even i don't know what is rooting, symlink?
Please give me right guidance

Ok LadyShakti let me tell you that these types of posts get many users angry because theres so many of them now the best thing you can do is actually read tutorials theres so many on HF and use all the learning resources you can find from ebooks to articles to other forums EVERYTHING and when learning be organised(thats if you want to be a pro at the end) like organise what you will learn first and second.

Here something I was just reading (to clarify my own knowledge as I am learning web hacking my self atm and one thing I can tell you is that I got all the resources I could find and I organised them in parts)

When your questions are this broad, I think you should just use google and keep learning first. You can come to us once you have a specific question/problem.

It will be way better for you if you just learn it all by yourself.

Keep reading up and good luck.

Because you're learning methods and not languages.
