Thread: Necrobot Config for gaining pokeballs?

lolAim - August 3, 2016, 11:31 am

I need a config for gaining pokeballs if someone can hook me up please.. Also why does the necrobot keep recycling the pokeballs? I dont understand why its doing that.

Just use masterball instead... much smoother/easier and less effort it seems.

It's recycling them as you have a default limit set for each item.

Go into config.json and find the item that you want more of and increase it's value, pokeballs are line 63 in the default config.

Make all the values except Pokeballs 0 when recycling (like Razz Berries, Potions, etc) and make any Pokeball value around 1000, then you'll never run out.

make them 0 and pokeball 350 as i think it will give a error saying you cant go over your 350 limit

Exactly, if you put higher than your backpack limit it will error.

I've never had that error on my bot, when you level up the items will bring you over the limit anyway. I'm not sure if it's because of the bot I'm using but it probably recycles Pokeballs if I go over the inventory count automatically

If you're going to fight gyms on your account, you need to keep like 20-50 potions and revives, otherwise just set them to 0
