Tech?nique - August 3, 2016, 6:26 pm

I seen while ago there was a way to return things that was bought off Pokemon go can someone care to explain how to do so? Please I would like to get my money back off Pokecoins

I assume it would be the same social engineering method used to get refunds from most in-app purchases. I remember doing it all the time for Clash of Clan gems lol.

I think this is the same as with Clash of clans, I'll hit you up when i find more information about this :)

Refund because the app description said you could track pokemon, but after the latest update they removed tracking so false advertisement???

This works i did it yesterday for 50$ and i was rewarded with a refund. But they are sending all tickets to niantic themselves instead of apple care or google support

Social engineering isn't allowed here. Anyway, try not to be a cunt.

This method worked, not anymore AFAIK.

You don't need to SE at all, just go to the Google or Apple and fill in the form why you want refund, that's it.

But I heard and Google and Apple are not refunding anymore? So yeah... not sure if it still works..

Not risking $150 to try, I think Botting is an unfair enough of an advantage...
