Thread: What can I do with one of these? | Vehicle GPS unit

So lets say I can get my hands on 10-20 of these:

^ This is the only way I can really show any information about the device. There is no product page for it on their site.

There is no way to register on their website so I am assuming it's some sort of private thing. Realistically, what could I do with these?

I THINK they are for the private security vans the ones that pick up and deliver to and from banks to make sure they are not getting stole or in case 1 did get stolen & to answer you're question you could track the wife/husband & use 1 on you're own car incase it ever got stole you're imaginations the limit.

Product specs:

If you can't view the location of these, they are paper weights. Take a look at the specs sheet.
