Thread: -NEWBIE- How long do u guys chat on average?

1kay7 - August 5, 2016, 1:53 pm

Hello Guys!

I'm really new to E-whoring and yesterday i've made my first 10 pounds. Although this is probably nothing for u guys, I was still really stoked when I received it!

Now: How long do u guys chat with someone before u start to talk about money? And how long does a chat takes u on average?

I'm really new so some answers would really help me out!

Thanks alot,

1kay7

First i ask them for purchase some nudes, next i send preview, price and take payment. I don't talk about bullshit with them.

RektNub420 - August 5, 2016, 4:26 pm

does that work tho Lol? thinking of doing that lmao

ailo - August 5, 2016, 4:28 pm

I usually start saying hi, how are you, asl, and then i give him a preview and get him with a sob story.

RektNub420 - August 5, 2016, 4:29 pm

Yard, like what? Rent etc? Struggling to get people here

trollfather - August 5, 2016, 4:37 pm

Rent is overused. If you really want to make money out of it. You will have to educate yourself and SPEND TIME ! I never did e-whore thing. Wanting to give it a try since I see its based on social hacking and modding (in both which I am good). But dont expect it be ez money. Biggest problem you will have to solve are trolls. People who will trash talk you and waste your time.

As for this "First i ask them for purchase some nudes, next i send preview, price and take payment. I don't talk about bullshit with them." You are either really happy person or you are talking BS. If it was that easy people would be milionares and phishing scams would still be top of the pyramid.

RektNub420 - August 5, 2016, 4:39 pm

^^ I agree with that guy tbh..

TridentX - August 5, 2016, 5:31 pm

Unlike most people, I actually talk to each person at least 5 minutes before I even mention selling. It works for me because these guys just want to believe that you are "real". Almost all of them seem surprised that I am willing to just talk with them. Once they are at ease, they become more comfortable and then they start to express their desires. At that point, it's all about giving them what they want (and what they can't get anywhere else) while making them pay for it.

G Swervo - August 5, 2016, 6:48 pm

i never spend more than like 30-40minutes on a customer, unless i know they're rich and i can milk them.

My earnings speak for themselves

Great, what if you got 200-300 adds an hour?
how will you talk to each person lol.

Personally i get straight to the point that i'm selling pics and vids for amazon paypal. show them some previews, verifications if needed, talk dirty to them, ask if they are interested and then some small part of those horny bastards buys them....

Afterwards writing down names of people who buys stuff and milk the shit out of them time to time...

Answering your question 5-20 mins each person, easily can see whos a time waster and whos not in that time frame. Also quick hint... If you have any doubts that the person you talk to is arabian, block him ASAP.

Bluffer - August 5, 2016, 6:58 pm

You should never spend more than an hour with somebody especially if they haven't paid.

But same for if they have paid. Make them value your time.

Xkhandle - August 5, 2016, 8:12 pm

I actually talk to my customers so that I can get to know them a little bit. It goes a long way in the long run tbh

No offense but if you are getting 200 adds and hour, they are mostly junk. I get about 50 an hour and I usually convert 10 immediately and another 10 the next day. But keep on doing what you are doing. Most of my customers are "ewhore/bot fatigued" and I give them another option.

ANTHONY - August 5, 2016, 9:42 pm

There's a few different ways to go at it. Be up front or just talk to them for a day or two before bringing it up.

P0ker - August 5, 2016, 9:53 pm

Well to be honest it's been a long time since I ewhore, however, in those times I made it look as real as possible, posing as a real girl looking to meet real people so it's like when a girl goes to a bar looking for free drinks, she won't suddenly start talking randomly to anybody right away because people will catch the vibe, you must make yourself look interesting and wait for them to approach.

So I tried to speak for 15 mins in the general chat and wait for the nasty old guys to start chatting with me, then that's how you start it. Sob stories may be overused but you can always change it to something like "I want to pay for a trip to x". I did use like 20-30 minutes by each guy. When I stopped doing eWhoring I did make around $500 though, may not be much but it's free money lol

Hope it's of help

Sinisterly - August 5, 2016, 11:01 pm

I spend about 15 seconds on each person and make about $100+ a day.

Rox. - August 5, 2016, 11:06 pm

If they're not a repeat customer, no longer than 15 minutes.

shiit, what traffic sites are you using then lol.

And my traffic is a junk

I use the same "saturated" sites that everyone else uses. I just use different approaches and actually talk to these guys. Short, real conversations make money.

No offence, but i think you're full of shit.

I'm quite sure you can't get 20 sales out of 50 people that you get an hourly, if you're using same saturated sites like us.

99 % are time wasters there.

.Unknown. - August 11, 2016, 6:58 pm

I just straight up ask them if they want to buy some pics, send them some previews, then price and payment.

I usually earn about at least $100 on avg per day, up to $500 maximally (the best day from two weeks). But i do it 16 hours per day, every day. I'm able to prove it, if u still won't believe that my method work's, but i didn't ever try to talk more with them first (if i did not have to) so i can't tell you my opinion about other methods that u might use.

sorry for my english, europe.
