It's a simple IO site that takes input from a form and generates a page with the input on it with a template. I have someone to do it but if anyone thinks they can do a good/better job please PM me since I have not chosen someone for sure.

So far all I got are bullshit prices from people reselling other peoples stuff. Please let me know if you can do it yourself and not ask for a shit ton of money for a 10 minute job.
