How do people make money selling guides for iPhone or anything? And who the hell even buys them? Last I checked no one ever even reads them.

Exactly, I don't understand it. But I was going through the dispute page and someone bought an ebook with a method that has to do with that, and he said to have made about $900 until his PayPal got limited.

It's sort of like e-whoring isn't it, where people pay money for nudes when really they could get anything and everything online for free.

I'm assuming it's just the majority of people who want to be spoon fed, and don't mind paying for it.

This is actually an eBay fraud and it's prohibited by eBay to do so. I would recommend you against doing this unless you want to get your PayPal account limited and eBay suspended.

Yeah you are correct. This idea was out like 5 years ago and people are still selling this ?

Total newbie will buy some guides eg. those who previously use Nokia only.
