Thread: Keyboard, mouse and mouse pad combo.

I've wanted to get these forever.

Razer Firefly

Razer Mamba Tournament Edition

Razer BlackWidow Chroma Clicky Mechanical Gaming Keyboard

I want these for the brand and the high-quality performance I've always heard of in reviews. Does anybody oppose these? If so, why?

Do it! That's what I plan on getting. Except I prefer Razer Naga due to the hotkeys on the side. I'm going for all them to be chroma though.

Ahh I understand that. I got it because I use to game a lot. I don't anymore but it's so nice. I had a blackwidow ultimate buy for some reason my B key stopped working and I couldn't fix it. TBH I lost the damn keyboard. I'm using a Logitech K400r, it's not bad as far as response. I'd just rather a mechanical.

Sorry, attempted to fix my desk a bit and moved it.

I plan to game a lot when I get a new PC. My current mouse is a crappy one, but has two hotkeys. I'll accidentally press them and it'll fuck up whatever I'm browsing by going forward a page, or back a page. I don't want to accidentally hit a key while gaming. It could fuck me hardcore.

Did you just put Razer and quality in the same sentence?

Razer uses cheap switches with next to 0 QC.

The keyboard will fail and the mouse will have a mind of it's own.
