

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Rate My Drawing

? Marcus ? - August 10, 2016, 8:28 am

Hey guys, I created a new drawing in Microsoft Paint today and it came out great. I used a bunch of different brush styles to create my drawing. You can find it below :)

Dude why?? Lol - August 10, 2016, 8:28 am

Okay. 1 million dollars for the physical.

Delysid - August 10, 2016, 8:29 am

This belongs in the rate my graphic section.

minuteman - August 10, 2016, 8:29 am how old r u?

sorry to say but need improvements if it was for fun then anything done for fun is Awesome.

@vincent - August 10, 2016, 8:36 am

I'm rating it 11/10.

You are the next Van Gogh (Only painter I know)

? Marcus ? - August 10, 2016, 8:38 am

(Aug 10, 2016 08:29 AM)Delysid Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This belongs in the rate my graphic section.
Okay then I will get this moved to the correct section.

Tommy DeVito - August 10, 2016, 8:41 am

I hope your trolling and this aint serious

Zorori - August 10, 2016, 8:43 am

It reminds me of Blue's Clues for some reason.

? Marcus ? - August 10, 2016, 8:57 am

(Aug 10, 2016 08:36 AM)@Vincent Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I'm rating it 11/10.
You are the next Van Gogh (Only painter I know)
Thank you so much for that excellent rating :)

SIM-2908357 - August 10, 2016, 8:57 am

The fuck is with the troll threads today ??

reDread - August 10, 2016, 8:58 am

Can you make me one? I will never have that kind of artistic talent in my life. I give it 9/11

Raleway - August 10, 2016, 8:59 am

As I view this piece, my eyes are occasionally led over to the vanishing point on the left, but keep coming back to the focal point around the birds. This movement happens largely because of the shadow that the house casts in that direction. The blue of the sky and the orange hint of the sun are very intense and bright, and their opposition with each other also contributes to the back and forth motion of our eyes as we view the painting. If the green color was not as saturated, more focus would be on the right side of the painting, it would have too much “weight,” and our eyes would linger there more. As a result, the painting’s composition would be less balanced.

? Marcus ? - August 10, 2016, 9:02 am

(Aug 10, 2016 08:57 AM)Akzius Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The fuck is with the troll threads today ??
All I wanted to do was display my drawing for the public :p

I hope no one turns this into a troll thread ?

LeonBackward - August 11, 2016, 1:54 am

DaVinci would be proud. 10/10 for effort :)

? Marcus ? - August 11, 2016, 7:27 am

(Aug 11, 2016 01:54 AM)LeonBackward Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) DaVinci would be proud. 10/10 for effort :)
Thank you for your kind comments sir :)

Eelkey - August 11, 2016, 1:07 pm

It's always a nice thing to try with simple things to do so much. I have few works i made with very simple brushes and using only mouse.

Swax - August 11, 2016, 1:27 pm

Its looks uhhh haunted. pretty scary, id rate like 3.4

SavageTM - August 21, 2016, 8:57 am i would pay 10 mill for this

StoneIsland - August 21, 2016, 9:01 am

(Aug 10, 2016 08:59 AM)A???????cFX Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) As I view this piece, my eyes are occasionally led over to the vanishing point on the left, but keep coming back to the focal point around the birds. This movement happens largely because of the shadow that the house casts in that direction. The blue of the sky and the orange hint of the sun are very intense and bright, and their opposition with each other also contributes to the back and forth motion of our eyes as we view the painting. If the green color was not as saturated, more focus would be on the right side of the painting, it would have too much “weight,” and our eyes would linger there more. As a result, the painting’s composition would be less balanced.
tf with this dude