nba should get a forum thread in game section. As it is a popular game like fifa (what seems to be a forum thread)

If you think it's a good idea suggest it here: Suggestions and Ideas

Personally I would love a sports gaming section but I'm not sure if it would stay active.

NBA on its own will not be active enough. The only way to make this work is to combine multiple sport sections together into one. That way they may stay more active during periods like this. Take the fifa section for example, it currently gets no posts, but when Fifa 17 comes out it will get a lot more. Maybe if they were all in the same section, it might have enough posts per day to stay active.

Seems like you've got a response on your newest thread regarding this. Just simply not enough activity, The Gamers Lounge or any of the console specific sections would be the place to discuss any matters regarding it.
