Armada - August 14, 2016, 1:31 pm

Want a chance to lead a group?

I have elected to sell my leadership spot from Enigma.

zSerity - August 14, 2016, 1:35 pm

Roger is no longer selling his spot so this is currently the only one for sale. Unexpected circumstances have led to this it is kinda time sensitive, so if anyone has an offer pls throw it out there. :BLACKHAT:

Undefined - August 14, 2016, 1:35 pm

How much do you want for this?

minimalist - August 14, 2016, 1:37 pm

Huge vouch for Armada, rumour has it that he is selling this leadership spot because he is benefitting too much from it for it to be healthy. Or maybe it still is healthy? Either way, buy this position and you'll find immunity in this life.

Basically, he is not going to sell it to some random person that doesn't deem worthy / know what they're doing, I am guessing.

Seasonal - August 14, 2016, 3:46 pm

He means, if you are in the "Echo" group you might as well fuck off and not bother messaging him about it. He dislikes them and calls them "cancer" and shit. Now unless you have the funds in the $500+ range and want to buy it why are you guys even posting asking him a billion and one questions.

Sorry, Armada.

I just wish kids wouldn't post on threads that contain something for sale with a billion questions that have nothing to do with the item/thing being sold.

If you let a forum group that doesn't affect you at all, influence your decision on making a sale for something worth this amount of money, you'd be an idiot. If anything this should be something the group owner states, not a leader who is literally selling away his spot, it wouldn't matter to him what the fuck happens after he gets his money.

On topic: OP what would one benefit into purchasing your leadership spot? How can I seek a return on my investment? And before saying "You'll get a piece of any group products/services," can you inform me of any operations ran by Enigma that generated money?

Please don't take this as an attack, I'm sure other potential buyers are also interested in how they could make money off this.

It's not meant to make you money he's looking for someone who simply wants to lead a group that's why I let me leaders sell their spot whenever they want

Profit would be a bonus but it takes a collective effort to get products and services going

Nope once I figured that out I forced and allowed him to sell it because I didn't realize before I added him, but if someone scams while they're a leader and doesn't fix it within 24-48 hours I'd just kick them, I only let bandors sell his because it was my mistake not checking before adding him

I dont care about an Echo member buying out my position, nor do I allow Echo's influence around here to influence my own decisions.

I dislike the gibberish that comes from the group however. That is all, if a reasonable Echo member wishes to buy the spot up, the offer will be considered.

as zSerity stated, there is already a offer for $400 on the table, I am looking to simply recoup my investment @ $500.

Profit would be a bonus but you already fucked yourself and all the other leaders over by selling all your leadership positions while your leaders have different looks on everything monetizing wise. If the group was so great and the 'group profit' thats always advertised, you wouldn't see 3 leadership spots up for sale every month from your group.

Lel, this sale including the last 2 spots sold were forced by me but you're right I should've just rented them for $100/month while selling $5 buyins #MakeGroupsGreatAgain #StriveToBeLikeNex
