A women like lana del ray

I like girls that dress classy and she reminds me of a girl i used to bully when i was 8-10y/r old, i try to find her on facebook but can't. If you ask me why i did it was because her mother and my mother was friends and for some reason i did not like girls even if the girls in my school though i was cute.

adore here <3

When I am looking for love, I do not go for the looks on the outside, I go for the looks on the inside. If you just care about some one for their looks, then you're not actually in love with THEM.

It depends if your "looking" at something physically, or if your looking at it through your mind. You have to take some ones personality for example, you see they have a nice personality, and you like it. You like to "look" at there personality.
