Well whenever i goto a users profile to use the trust scan system and when i find that the claimant/defendant option shows as 2/7 or 0/2 etc.

so i want to check what has happen with the deals and why such numbers and so to check this i click on white highlited deal dispute option and after clicking it does not automatically fill up the user id in the deal dispute database page. So i again go back to the users profile and copy/remember the userid and then back to same page and fill up the userid manually to find the answer of why claimant/defendents shows as x/y.

This is getting harder when i operate hf on mobile.

Kindly look at this.

if i don't know something or missed anything with this regard make me understand please.

I might be interpreting this wrong so apologies in advance if I do.

If you click the 0/0 or 2/4 or whatever they may have, it already fills it in.

When I click on your 0/0 i am directly taken to the deal-dispute page and auto-search for your UID:

ohh thanks i was clicking on deal disputes instead of numbers.
thanks mate.

and also thanks to the post below yours .

anyways that white option over dealdisputes should be removed i guess and numbers should be like this that they appear to be clickable.
