Thread: My thread got moved and now I cant edit it.

It got moved from lounge to Marketplace Discussions which is where it should be.
I posted it in lounge so I could reply and edit my thread and even post it in the first place.

Someone moved it and now I cant post or edit my own thread cause of my repkill for 2FA a while back. GJ

This is your fault entirely.
You should have waited until you had the rep to post in marketplace.

Should have enabled 2FA especially when you even got a heads up warning from Omni mate.

Sorry for your loss.

At least its going somewhere. Some members have had it worse before but made a recovery.

No lol I did enable it - Reformatted my phone and used Google Auth for it and boom reinstalled and 2FA for all my sites went BOOM. So I had to email staff to get it removed so I can use Authy.

And btw im not complaining about my rep or anything I just want my thread fixed if its possible.

You're going to have to wait until you have positive reputation again. The thread is in the right section and won't be removed. Since it is on a Marketplace section, you will just have to wait until you get positive rep again.

Didn't see you were in red. Thread closed and will junk if the community alert is not applicable anymore. Other than that, when you get positive reputation, message me and I will open it.
