Looking for someone to test the stability and assure all features currently in this version of Dioscuri RAT work. It will not have all the features of the thread I posted about Dioscuri, but It has the features I'm worried about.

for the shit plasma rat?

nah only skids would want to use it.

you're making profit from others work.

contact the owner of plasma rat and ask to use it.

since he hasnt been online in a while and you dont have his permission you're leaking now.

You need to get down off of your high-horse for a minute pal.

If you do not want to see this, I recommend you just don't look at the threads until I've gotten the reply back from Omni.

And you don't own the source, you sold the projects along with all rights, I have the private message of you saying that, and although I cannot get 4th to give myself the permissions, although I did buy them.

Are we going to resolve this maturely or will you proceed to bash my threads until it's resolved?

Closed until the final decision is made.
