Spotify is basically piracy. If you care about the musicians you listen to, buy their music and/or go their shows. Major label people make almost nothing on album sales, but do well on merch and tickets. Indies do well on everything.

Thanks for sharing, wish it was a year at least, but anything at this point is good. Was so pissed when I lost my account taht had the Teila partnership.

I fucking love Spotify <3

Thanks for the share, OP. Spotify likes to do these kind of promos every now and then. The tough part is noticing them.

You think that Taylor Swift is making so much more now that she isn't on Spotify? Good one. They make enough money as it is for singing songs they don't even write the lyrics to.
