

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Solved\] Ratted myself](#)

Lenkio - August 20, 2016, 10:45 am

Hello,

I accidentally ratted myself using LuminosityLink. :[

I double clicked like an idiot and I don't remember the file name, so I can't use the Client Binary Removal Tool from LL.

Any solutions please ?

ImSection - August 20, 2016, 10:48 am

If the stub is FUD there's not much you can do... If It's not just run AV scan m4dh4ck3r - August 20, 2016, 10:50 am

Open LL find your IP/Location/PCName and uninstall ?

Meow - August 20, 2016, 10:50 am

Just remove your PC within LL client?

Lenkio - August 20, 2016, 10:55 am

Yeah, tried it but it didn't uninstall.

Hopefully, it was a test RAT, so I didn't toggled the persistence, just had to restart my PC and now it's gone. c:

/solved

Clegane - August 20, 2016, 10:57 am

this is a really common mistake, I once did it when I had like every single persistence setting on in my crypter and I had to wait for a week so the stub wouldn't be FUD anymore and my anti would detect it and remove it ?

Lenkio - August 20, 2016, 10:58 am

(Aug 20, 2016 10:57 AM)Clegane Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) this is a really common mistake, I once did it when I had like every single persistence setting on in my crypter and I had to wait for a week so the stub wouldn't be FUD anymore and my anti would detect it and remove it ?

Haha, now i'll put my RATs in a folder. ?

Clegane - August 20, 2016, 10:59 am

(Aug 20, 2016 10:58 AM)Lenkio Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Haha, now i'll put my RATs in a folder. ?

Yeah I have a whole partition where I store basically everything which I should not execute on my own computer

Millimeter Peter - August 20, 2016, 11:01 am

Question, what is so bad about ratting yourself?

M5DD - August 20, 2016, 1:44 pm

(Aug 20, 2016 11:01 AM)PepeBruh Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Question, what is so bad about ratting yourself?

It could be exploited- eg if someone connects to the network that the rat sends to and opens the LL client they will have access to your pc

Mastery - August 20, 2016, 1:49 pm

These threads are funny. It's like when someone gets a gun and shoots themselves in the foot... I just think "fuck, you definitely shouldn't be playing with guns".