Edit: Disregard this, haha, I changed it.

I just spent a quick five minutes in photoshop making a personal avi, so I can be a bit more known, what do you guys think?

People don't usually use avatars with their names or letters like that, but if it was like 2010 I would give you a 6/10 just because of the color scheme and how it looks a bit amateur and kiddy. Other than that 10/10 for effort I can see you put some work into it and if you like it it looks like it's paid off.

Brutal honesty time

1. Looks like its from 2009.
2. an obnoxious blue background, hurts the fucking eyes.
3. Right outer ring colors just look pointless.

Sorry but I am just giving you some constructive criticism

Thanks, heheh. I didnt want to use one from google, because I wanted to be original I guess. Maybe if I get the extra funds Ill get an artist to make me one, :)

Lol, Im loving the constructive criticism, thanks guys! I may sound sarcastic, but its actually letting me get a feel for the standards of graphics here, I appreciate it! :) Ill spend some more time making another one.

If you are going to go with that style I wouldn't bother trying to improve on it. Like everyone says it's very old so your best bet is to try to make some type of art piece or drawing for your avatar or try to create an avatar pack for default HF avatars.

Most people just find their avatars on random image sites or put something they like or think looks cool which they didn't make
