Well, im fairly proud that i have brought many services to hf, such as webshells, botnet hosting and botnet setups. Im also happy that i do regular giveaways, this may range form simple leaked source lookups, to free unlimited botnet hosting + domains. I try to contribute where i can in other sub forums aswell, much like that rat section, where i posted spreading methods, help, tutorials and the rat that i programmed free for hackforums ?

You have my vouch NulldB, your an awesome guy :)

~~((HACKER))~~ - August 23, 2016, 7:10 am

First of all Thank you for hosting this contest.

Why I deserve this?

I have been a loyal member of HF since 2011. In these 5 years, I helped alot of users and still helping. I contributed many things with HF members. I'm a member who like to help others. I always try to stay HQ.

Moreover, I earned a good reputation (Not reps) on HF and this is what I'm more proud of. If I'll get an upgrade, it will motivate me to do more. It will be an honour to win this competition. Rest, decision is in your hands.

Regards

((HACKER))

Everytime I go to McDonalds, I pump myself up with pride. I'll add 2 extra McChickens to whatever I'm getting and then find a homeless person on the street and give it to them. It wasn't always like this, I used to hand on $5 bills and sometimes maybe even a $20 but that all changed when the Fire Nation attacked. Only the Avatar mastered all four elements. Only he could stop the ruthless firebenders. But when the world needed him most, he vanished. A hundred years have passed and the Fire Nation is nearing victory in the War. Two years ago, my father and the men of my tribe journeyed to the Earth Kingdom to help fight against the Fire Nation, leaving me and my brother to look after our tribe. Some people believe that the Avatar was never reborn into the Air Nomads, and that the cycle is broken. But I haven't lost hope. I still believe that somehow, the Avatar will return to save the world.

But that all changed when I went to a 7-11 and watched the same homeless person I gave a $20 to, literally 5 minutes ago. Walk in and buy a case of beer.

I would like to be upgraded to l33t

On HF I have helped many people with RATs and things to do with RATs and removed malware from a couple of peoples computers, all for completely free! I hope to win l33t as I will be able to have a larger PM space and be able to edit my threads. Good luck to everyone in this contest!

Nick (Name) - August 23, 2016, 8:45 pm

Not sure if this paragraph has to be related to HackForums but I'm going to give this a shot! I have a friend who heart got broken by some shitty douchebag, she came to me asking what she should do because she didn't deserve her time being wasted nor been screwed over by that asshole. I told her I had an idea of how to get back at him, I told her to come by my house around 9pm after work and to wear comfortable clothing. She came around the house exactly at 9pm and knocked on my door she, was tearing up a little bit still from the breakup, I greeted her with a firm hug. Then I grabbed her some sour patch kids from my pantry, it's her favorite candy, and asked her to follow me back to my room. Once we we're back in my room I turned off the lights and grabbed my computer chair and she sat in my lap, I messaged the punk of her ex boyfriend on FB and asked him to Skype me. He responded to my message and said he would call me in a few minutes, I then asked my friend if she still had feeling for me, she told me stil still did, I told her just to go along with what ever I do. The punk called me and I answered the call on my PC, turned on the webcam and made out with my friend. That shit pissed him off so much he scream into his mic to stop, all I said to him was, you should have been better you ain't getting this one back, I winked and ended the call.

Danny Khalifa - August 23, 2016, 8:47 pm

I would love to win 3P1C.

That will really make me happy.

Also I am proud of my position in my life at the moment. When I was young, I was selling everything in the market and did everything to earn a penny.

Nowadays, I make easy money and I can afford much more things and I won't stop it here.
Moving forward everyday.

Thanks a lot OP.
Appreciate your giveaway a lot.

Faceless Man - August 23, 2016, 9:12 pm

I feel as though I may deserve this because I have tried to bring motivation to members throughout HF and some of them gave back great responses from my Motivation quote thread.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=5384529&pid=52202990#pid52202990>

I sent members motivational/inspirational quotes each day to give them that extra kick to the start of their day ;)

Thanks for the contest, good luck to everyone.

AzCh - August 23, 2016, 10:25 pm

Similar to Nick, I'm unsure whether or not this is limited to the HF but anyways, Summer of last year, I worked 2 jobs to help pay for a family members chemotherapy. Unfortunately, they passed away but I don't regret doing any of it. Sure, I lost a potential $5000 worth of material things but the possibility to save a life meant more to me, especially it being family.

#FuckCancer

Good luck to everyone who enters.

Can I nominate someone who can be counted in ?

B?ker - August 25, 2016, 8:24 am

Honestly, I am really proud of my most recent Giveaway (the generator in my signature), I started it less than 24 hours ago at this time and almost 130 replies and people loving it. Honestly makes me feel good giving back to a community that has been so helpful to me so far, only being here less than a month its quite astonishing the open arms, and helpfulness I have gotten in areas such as security, personal health, etc. As Well I have I helped people as well with various things such as coding, Apple Related troubleshooting, and other stuff. Places like this are a dime in a dozen I have been to many various forums not a lot are like here, and glad I came here.

The Witness - August 25, 2016, 11:28 am

I deserve this because I am a Lot of a better member then I used to be I listen to people don't be stuck up I actually try to help out as much as I can, I do RGH JTAG Giveaways and anything I seem worth to giveaway I would I am a kind hearted person, I hope people would see that, I used to have a Thread for RAT Support to help others, I don't sadly anymore, I got into a sad moment, the Admin removed my old account had to start from Scratch! I have a Cert in IT Technician Level 2, so I could always provide help with techincal side. and other things. I know they will be more replies, to this I probably won't get picked I hope someone gets it who deserves, it I try to become the best I can be I want to help others, not myself.

Sugawara - August 26, 2016, 11:06 am

I'd love to get upgraded to Ub3r.

Have been in this forum since 2011, tried contributing and given back as much as I could. In real world I never got the opportunity to help others for which I'm proud yet. Ever if I did, I won't brag about it.

Good luck.

skillzforme - August 26, 2016, 12:31 pm

Thanks for such amazing giveaway!

What am I proud of ? It's a little bit irrelevant with the community but, I just finished my Bachelor's degree with first honours (Computer Science) and in addition I found a real job with good money!

Thanks buddy for the opportunity to upgrade to L33T.

Elitas - August 26, 2016, 1:21 pm

Thanks for the giveaway OP! I've been in HF for ~ 3 months and I'm proud that I've helped many people, anyone who has ever needed my help. I actively post my opinion and try to stay friendly to everyone. I'm not incredibly experienced in all aspects but I'm learning everyday and I love spending my spare time on HackForums with my mates here lol.

I think I should get L33T soon as I plan on making some products and selling premiums and giving out trials etc(im working on a few small projects but these are plans for next summer!).

I plan to become an UB3R one day, but L33T is the first step. Thanks for this great competition! <3 bzr? - August 26, 2016, 2:25 pm

Having been here for over 4 years I've seen loads of people come and go on these forums, not too many stick around. Though because I have seen so much happen here, with not all of it being good, I've tried myself to steer the ship so to speak and do my best in helping others out where I can, and I hope I have and continue to make a difference around here.

Entering for 3pic.

NUJABE - August 26, 2016, 2:31 pm

When I first met this girl at the bar, it was cool. And then I was proud. =]

There it is! For ub3r ;)

Faith Connors - August 27, 2016, 7:44 pm

Alright I'll enter for ub3r because I'm approved. Hope I'm not too late, saturday hasn't officially ended yet and as far as I know no winners were chosen ?

There are a few things I'm proud of, but most are just personal achievements. There are some things on here I'm proud of, but I mean they're not that great.

I'll tell you what I am proud of though. I'm still in HS, and last year I took a course called Computer engineering. It's basically focused around hardware like how computers are built, what a system needs to run properly, and stuff like that, it's not exactly computer science as programming isn't essential to the course. Now, our end of term assignment/summative was to build two things, and those two things had to cover most of the curriculum and show what we learned. We were allowed to do it in partners as well. I got one of my friends along, and we decided to do our presentation/project on different servers. We talked about FTP servers, web servers, game servers, and a bit on how connections work. The teacher was already kinda impressed by the effort we put into everything, but then we got to my little section about security. I covered a lot of stuff, for web servers I did SQL injection and XSS, for FTP servers I talked about locking all your data and encrypting it, I mentioned a few other exploits and vulnerabilities. Just basic stuff I picked up online and on the forums, people were starting to crowd around wondering what was going on because they heard the word "hack" come up a few times. Of course, my teacher is cool with this stuff and asked if I could actually show how some stuff is done. I opened up one of those SQL injection training sites, and explained the process of an error based injection while actually doing it.

Everyone thought I was part of anonymooze meme squad after that. I also cracked some spotify accounts for people at the beginning of the year, so that confirmed some people's speculations.

My teacher pulled me aside at the end of class and told me that it can get me in trouble with the law if I'm not careful.

Overall it was a good day.

I got a 90 overall split between the two projects I did. (The other was more hardware oriented, built a MIDI controller with an Arduino board.) I'm pretty proud of that, probably one of my favourite classes.
