Omniscient - August 23, 2016, 11:49 pm

I was away on Vacation. It will take me up to 48 hours to reply to all PMs. It may take up to two weeks to reply to all contacts.

Please be patient.

I was in Europe. :) Had a good time too.

EDIT: Some shared photos on IG: <https://www.instagram.com/hackforums/>

I wonder if someone already recognized online in the street.

Must be weird go be recognized but happens

Omniscient - August 24, 2016, 12:14 am

I was in Italy, Croatia, and Greece.

They were all great. The only disappointment was Athens which was pretty much run down and full of graffiti. I was completely unimpressed by the condition of the city and lack of a decent economy.

I was on a Cruise for most of the trip and unfortunately internet was terrible.

Backopy - August 24, 2016, 4:19 pm

I've been to Europe too. It's a shame you missed out on a lot of the Balkan areas, in particular I found Bosnia to be amazing; so many ancient roman artifacts and even quite a few castles that were hundreds of years old, lots of very old heritage still standing even today.

Travelling is so awesome, the flight killed me though despite taking business class. I think it's something with the air in the cabin makes your throat dry while you're sleeping and you feel sick as hell.

Anyway it's great to see you took a well deserved break!

Yeah, I had some veneers done a couple years ago. But I've always looked younger than I really am. I don't need botox and wouldn't ever use it anyways. I have not had any cosmetic surgery.

Photos are done with a cheap phone camera I got specifically for Europe. Not the greatest camera but it did the job. I took a lot more photos than this but these showed where I was and generally are good photos. I didn't want to add 200 photos when 15 did the job.

On the note of that I just have to suggest something..

There's an awesome app called Sleep Cycle, I thought it was rubbish at first but after reading the reviews and personally testing it I doubt I'll ever go back to a regular alarm clock. You get awesome stats about sleep quality and it takes a few days to properly sync. Wakes you up at a certain time closer to the end of a REM stage so you don't wake up feeling like you want to smash your alarm clock into a wall.

Athens' center areas are indeed bad with the exception of a few places around the Acropolis. You should have paid a visit to the south suburbs, next to the beaches. They are all stunning places, especially during the night. The mayor of Athens municipality gives 0 fucks about the "downtown" and he keeps letting it being a ghetto.

But for vacations in Greece in the summer, islands are the best places to go.

Quote:The mayor of Athens municipality gives 0 fucks about the "downtown" and he keeps letting it being a ghetto.

It's obviously government and management and a bad decision. Their #1 tourist destination is in the center of the city and you have to pass incredibly ruined neighborhoods to get there. Probably millions of visitors a year only see the Akropolis as part of cruises or other tour groups.

Would love to go to Detroit. I want to buy a house there for under $10k.

You might as well, then rent it out for money every month.

Looking at the Instagram pictures it looks like you had a good time. It's a shame I've never seen any of the countries myself but maybe one day.

Beautiful pics, you should visit Bruges, Belgium when you get the chance. Can't tell if you were there or not Visited both actually.

How is The Macallan 18? , good tasting?

I can't find it in my country and ordering it in internet costs me much more expensive.

<https://detroit.craigslist.org/wyn/reo/5749672050.html> That home for $10k seems nice. Purchase for $10k, renovate for about another $10k ($15k max) and flip it for a nice $50k.

Welcome back. Italy, Croatia, and Greece are indeed all beautiful countries. Glad you had a good time!

Omni went to King's Landing and Greece. That's super awesome. As a fan of the Game of Thrones series I'm seriously jealous, I'm only on season 3 though so I just saw the siege of King's Landing. Also, my family is from Greece so that's cool too. The rest of the pictures are also awesome. Glad you're back though.

Pretty much sums the whole situation up. The last time this place had a real government that did things was during the military junta in 1967-1974. Bad times for a few people, yes. Good times for the nation though.

They also keep advertising Athens more than other places, such as our islands or other cities. Or at least, they should advertise the areas of Athens that are next to the beach. Not the damn ugly center. If you'd like to visit Greece again, drop me a message. I will give you the best possible suggestions or even arrange the whole trip for you. My family runs a travel agency so I will be glad to assist you with it!

I actually didn't know you had an instagram account until now, followed and I'm glad you enjoyed Croatia, Europe has a lot to offer C:

I think it's more of a byproduct of the major city voting into power socialists that were willing to give them an easy life in exchange for votes. Not unlike what's happening in other major US cities like Chicago and Detroit.

Funny the amount of members who contacted me about helping with a vacation. Thanks for the offer though.
