Staff do not get involved in deals between members. You can respond to the dispute and that is all.

That thread won't go anywhere but the last rep you got is invalid

This is a pain in the ass, are you sure staff wont delete or at least close an invalid scam report just because money was held by paypal for 21 days?

Offering him even a refund right now just because I can afford it today but its just unprofessional as well, and he told me to wait him already 30 minutes.

You literally junked one of your threads on this cause people were turning against you in regards to proxy selling, now you made another post and instantly closed it so nobody can reply LMAO.

Staff can't help you.

You have to deal with the other user directly and get him to close/remove it.

Staff helped me a lot, I pm'd only Omni and other staff member to know some of them will take some action.

They closed his account:

Much appreciated about this fair action taken.

Solved and closed.

Be aware it was removed only because the Deal Dispute entry and thread were not from the user who you have the actual dispute with. In such cases that's an obvious error on their part and in their case it was intentional and it's why their account is now closed.
