Thread: The King's Avatar - eSports Anime coming in 2017!

Aura - August 25, 2016, 1:31 pm

Just spotted this on my Facebook, it looks awesome!

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=qlNTL9UT4hg>]

Quote:The King's Avatar(????) (or Master Of Skill, no official English name yet) is an anime adaptation of the 2012 hit internet novel in China depicting the lives and drama of several pro gamers, of their ambitions and struggles both in and out of the game, the series is a joint project of Tencent and Yuewen.com and is scheduled to be aired/streamed in 2017.

Who's hyped for this?!

DerMensch24 - August 25, 2016, 2:56 pm

Looks interesting, is there a MAL/anything at all for it yet?

Aura - August 25, 2016, 2:57 pm

I looked it up on MAL today but there doesn't seem to be anything about it yet.

Hamekaze - August 25, 2016, 2:58 pm

Looks pretty fucking hype, hopefully it lives up to it.

Happeh - August 25, 2016, 3:07 pm

Looks okay but generally the concept has me like "eh". Will watch the first few episodes and make a real judgement then

Armady1 - August 25, 2016, 3:38 pm

It seems really really interesting...

read the first 3 translated chapters of the manga already.

Is that magic I see? ?

Armady1 - August 25, 2016, 3:43 pm

Just found the translated chapters for this anime

<http://gravitytales.com/the-kings-avatar/>

if anyone wants them

Mafty Navue Erin - August 25, 2016, 3:48 pm

The first half of the video I was like... yeah seems okay, is there going to be no action?
Then the second half I was like... fuck yeah!

I'm just hoping this isn't a letdown like SAO.

RainbowHentAi - August 25, 2016, 4:02 pm

This seems like it will be a good anime, will be different from what I'm used to watching that's for sure

Nice!

And I think it will be different as well since it's based off a Chinese light-novel from what I've read about it.

The hype for this Anime is real. It's now like all over my Facebook.
