Explain why the sport you like is the best Sport in the world and give accurate Fact`s!

I love hockey, I don`t need to give facts on that, So This is really a opinionated thread but if you want to share some facts go ahead.

BR?ND?N - August 25, 2016, 10:11 pm

Hockey and Basketball.

Hockey? Self-explanatory.

Fighting? Yep. On ice? Even better. Want to see a guy get hit so hard he flies? Hockey. Crazy unbelievable goals? Yep. Last second winners? Yep. oh? You don't got the time to watch a 3 hour game? Hockey is the fastest major professional sport in North America.

Basketball? I grew up playing it. I love it.

miomar - August 25, 2016, 11:44 pm

There is no best sport in the world, it all comes down to passion and the excitement, so if you're passionate and having fun while you play and/or watch the sport then you love it

AzCh - August 25, 2016, 11:47 pm

I honestly love watching basketball. It's a fast paced game with constant buckets. Playing it is also fun, have been playing for years. And yeah, it just comes down to personal preference, don't think there's a best sport in the world.

codenathan - August 26, 2016, 3:44 am

I play running but I like golf and motorbike race

Circle-- - August 26, 2016, 4:02 am

Soccer, there's a reason it's the biggest sport in the world. ;)

Basketball and swimming for me. Swimming is just good for your whole body

TurboFast - August 26, 2016, 7:36 am

Hockey! Its true man's sport!

Yin Yang - August 26, 2016, 7:37 am

Basketball and Football(not futbol) for me. They are both contact sports and I play them all the time with my friends. Can't wait for the NFL season to start!

SupRO - August 26, 2016, 7:38 am

Guess Buzkashi, it's an ancient game and quite too extreme as well.
On the other hand, I like tennis and cricket.

?Shady - August 26, 2016, 7:38 am

I'd be stuck between Basketball & Football sincr I grew up playing both. On the courts there's no better feeling then crossing up a defender or just banging a shot in their face. With football, there's no better feeling then cracking the fuck out of someone ?

Only thing Is I have not gotten into Basketball much, They score to much and it seems like when they score so often, the excitement is not all that high when they score xD.

Basketball is pretty minimal on the Contact bro, If you like contact, Watch hockey. Has the hardest hits in the world arguably. You go 25 KM on skates running at a dude and then slamming them, Ya It sure is hard dough.

Basketball is rough. You're being manhandled virtually the whole game. You got a guy in your face, mean mugging you, waiting on you to take it to the rim so he can slam your ass back down to earth. Basketball is like this. You're good, or your not. Basketball players can be assholes man.

They sure got a good trade yesterday getting that first round 2015 prospects that was drafted from Florida; getting a pricey contract in return and only giving up a 2nd and 3rd round pick :O . I wish the oilers would of got that big PWF :(. But, I think oilers GM P.C is not looking to get a big pricey over pay of a contract because the cap is short and we still need a top 4 offensive RHD!

Handball, what do you mean handball? Hockey I love the most out of any sport. MMA is the second one I watch but I am a hardcore fan for the Oilers. Love my OILERS!! So pumped for Hockey season.

Dude that is awesome though Brokies. Gettign the national Trophy is great. I used to wrestle in High school a bit, I never competed but I was closing to beating my wrestling coach who was 10 - 20 pounds bigger then me. I was only 135 pounds and 5`11 but as 6 ft and 160 pounds now :D.

I personally believe it's Football, what you americans know as soccer. I've played a lot of it and it's both very fun to play and watch.

Rugby is also very good, nothing compares to playing Rugby. Using your body to absolutely destroy your opponent is always great fun.

I have many friends who like British football. I think there is skill in football but the games are so long to watch and sometimes barley anything happens. I understand how hockey work`s and it is action packed full of skill, Game-plan and high speed action.

Basketball ball by far. Only sport I can actually watch.

I watch the UFC events and they are the best.... But I love hockey way more now. I was training in MMA for 3-4 years, back like almost 7 years or more ago.

True, It is skill but it is not physically Active, only is your hands and mind. Mentally it is active but Physical sports have much more then just the mental game and using your hands. There is conditioning and much more.

I heard this league of legend champion saying how physical it is to play. I understand it, It has its own physical eliminate but it is no where near the physical requirements of Hockey. You basically need to be able to run a marathon. You spend 30 - 60 seconds pushing as hard as you can, as fast and hard as you can every shift. It's wild man, And Especially playoff hockey where all 4 lines have to be doing well. It's at the type of competition.

Wrestling, kick-boxing, BJJ and was a yellow belt in TKD (Ya it was nothing much but helped me with my balance a ton, I trained that when I was 11 until 12), then at 12 I started to train in all the MMA stuff I stated above until about 14 or 15!

Good suggestion. Ya I think Rudgy has it`s perks. I used to play a bit of Rudgy in High school. Have you ever played it? Here is my reason why NFL is better. I think NFL hits harder. The nfl have gear but gear = more mass which = more force. They even tested it and NFL has harder hits because they have faster players and bigger guys most of the time. Just the way you hit and how their is more weight with the hits.

That`s dope bro. Thanks for the advice. Yeah Sparring is what I want to do a ton because It is the best thing to do to learn how to box and protect yourself. Your body needs to get used to defending, Being threatened with punches and how to respond to it. So many people are over whelmed when fighting because It`s the first time and are untrained. When I first did boxing I was scared to spar because I was younger. BJJ is good man, The best one vs one Martial art in the world mostly :)!

Exactly man theres nothing you can do that is like sparring it works everywhere! I learned the hard way with sparring for about a year on Wednesday nights and Sunday mornings I got battered everytime then when I had finished my fair share of beatings it started being me who was dishing out the beatings then! Everyone most do their fair in getting beaten up, its just a part of boxing. And yeah I fucking love BJJ its honestly amazing.

Serious man just get down to your nearest club, sign up and get sparring. Boxing is a wonderful sport in which fights are never far away unlike MMA and BJJ, In boxing you can fight at least every 2 months which is great for experience, get in there and get it done!!

I mean everyone is nervous when they first start out but honestly I just really enjoyed it and i mean what's the worst that can happen? You will be wearing headgear etc so your safe as hell no need to worry, bodyshots hurt yeah but that's just a part of the game, that's how I looked at it. Well Once I start doing hard sparring I'm sure that worry won't be there and I'll get Tougher and able to handle those body shots really well. The worst punch I ever took was 3-4 really hard shots to the ear from my Bigger brother when we were drunk and fought. It was 5 years ago, and it hurt like shit! Have you ever suffered a broken nose? nice 5/2 is not bad, it's good man. Boxing pays more and it is focused on just boxing so I would rather do just boxing but I agree that MMA is funner because you can do everything, MMA You do like 6-7 pro fights and BOOM you are in the UFC, It's funny. Though this post I make here is subject to each person on what they prefer and enjoy, I think to each his own is what it comes down to..

I see that football Is the most Widespread Popular Sport, but with Hockey it`s a sport that not everyone is able to play. Most players they have to grow up playing it when they are a young child at ages 3-6 and they get trained. So in a way, there is so much talent and amazing High expectations. It's a huge team sport, i love how funny and Team based the Culture of Hockey is and How amazing our Fans are. Their competition vs rivals and the Draft is so amazing. I love how hockey is not just about having good players that are talented but also how Important the Organization for each team's management who is managing the team Is just as important. If you don't have good management, the team will not be able to do that well at all. What makes it so amazing is management, Coaching and players all have to be good to do well and make the cup. They say the Stanley cup is the hardest cup to win in the world.

The fact that it's the Fastest physical sport in the world with Body checking and extra it has big Hits and very tough players. In soccer you barley touch a different player and you will get a green flag... In Hockey you can hit really hard as long as it is not a illegal hit against the boards or a hit to the head. Hockey has so much strategy too and The trade deadlines are so exciting. Each year each team will have different players and it makes it exciting because big trades can come in, and so many other things about the game that make it so entertaining!

Conundrum Account - October 6, 2016, 10:04 am

Australian Rules Football (AFL).

It's a unique sport so it's hard to describe. You are allowed to kick the ball and handball (punch with ball with your fist) the ball. The tackling is intense and players run around 10 miles per game on average. You need to be able to kick, handball, catch, tackle, spoil marks and be cool under pressure.

Just watch at least two minutes from 6:34 and you may understand why I believe it's the greatest sport in the world.

Re?olution - October 31, 2016, 11:58 am

Most difficult sport I'd say is Boxing (or MMA), closely followed by Hockey (I've done both for many years).

A look at ESPN's ratings: <http://www.espn.com/espn/page2/sportSkills>

jo0rdan - November 1, 2016, 12:45 pm

To play and watch, definitely Rugby

thefatman - November 2, 2016, 2:42 pm

it is subjective, but for me Soccer, tennis and Football

Player 2 - November 3, 2016, 10:20 am

There is no best sport in the world. It all comes down to the specific person and what they are the most passionate about.

For example, basketball in my eyes is the best sport but may not be in someone else's eyes.

Unreasonable - November 5, 2016, 12:43 am

Everyone would have a different opinion but for me soccer

hydronic - November 6, 2016, 12:31 pm

100% football, just fun too watch and relaxing.

EvanWilliams93 - November 6, 2016, 12:48 pm

Favorite sport to play: Soccer. Played it for 13 years. Now I play pick up games with my friends. I will always love soccer.

Favorite sport to watch: College football. I like it better than the NFL because they seem hungrier. They want to prove that they are able to play in the NFL. All of them whether or not they make it just seem to play harder than most NFL.

SIM-403479 - November 6, 2016, 12:53 pm

Colon.y - November 27, 2016, 3:04 am

it has to be football (soccer) for me :)

topezmagic - November 27, 2016, 9:57 am

Personally soccer for me. Has the least impact from cheaters and requires the most skill IMO.

I absolutely love UFC/MMA but as with the NFL and NBA, the drug testing is terrible and the majority of athletes are blatantly using gear and not getting caught. It doesn't matter if you use roids in soccer, it wont make you dribble, make a pass or shoot better. Those are just skills that you practice and being stronger or faster wont help.

Bearcat42 - December 13, 2016, 10:44 am

Football requires all around toughness & skill, however basketball requires balance & the right psychological mindset

UFC is really going down in certain professional ways though. How the origination represents it self is not going on the direction that i like personally.

Tid?es - December 23, 2016, 12:16 am

For me it's water polo. Played it my entire life, watched it my entire life, lived it my entire life. There's a reason it's rated the toughest sport.

With over 4 billion followers of football, it is by far the most popular sport in the world. Considering all of our criteria factors football top most of them we have discussed major factors which makes football's popularity unmatched.

Football's dominance over the globe is so obvious that it really shouldn't be a surprise for anyone to see football's name at the top of the list. The Beautiful Game, as they call it, has fans in as east as Japan and as West as America but nowhere on earth is this game more popular than in Europe. For most European nations, it's not just a game rather it's a way of life. FIFA World Cup is the most iconic event of this sport which is not only the most watched team event but also one of the highest paying competitions in the whole sports world.

Football is one of the most accessible sport in the world and there is hardly anyone in this world who has not kick a ball at some point in their life. Football dominate sports headlines in some of the major countries in the world including almost all European nations like United Kingdom, Germany, France, Spain etc. In South America football is more than just a game, it represent dreams and joy for kids in Brazil, Argentina and other Latin countries. Lets take a look at some of the statistics which will put every argument to rest that Football is the biggest and most popular sport in the world.

Vineet248 - October 26, 2018, 1:55 am

I love Cricket due to its Passion in India.

INDians Love this Game.

Also during the Football World Cup/EURO/ Premier League times, most of the States where Footbal is watched, there is tremendous response.

TRP ratings of Sports Channel rise like anything.

Best Sport in the World in terms of Participation is:- SOCCER (Football)

In the last global census undertaken by the sports governing body FIFA, it was estimated that there are 265 million people who play the sport along with more than 5 million referees, which equates to 4% of the world's population, thus cementing its place atop the list of the world's most popular sports.

This is followed by:-

- (2) Badminton
- (3) Field Hockey
- (4) Volleyball
- (5) Basketball
- (6) Tennis
- (7) Cricket
- (8) Table Tennis
- (9) Baseball
- (10) Golf

SIM-925118 - November 21, 2018, 8:45 pm

Cycling, no sport like it.

It's quite exciting watching hundreds ride there bikes through rough, grueling terrain.. Climbing mountains such as the Alpe d'Huez.. As well as that exciting downhill ride... Talking... 150km+ races.. Like the Tour de France which lasts for 23 days(2 rest days I believe).. and each day they are out for a long ride.

The one which had just passed... There is no sport that has more dedicated athletes than cycling.. One cyclist that goes by the name of Lawson Craddock.. Had a hard crash on the FIRST stage of the race, fracturing his scapula, continued to finish last place.. but overall rode the entire way through.. REGARDLESS of his injury. This is one that stood out to me, plus he is from my hometown which made me proud.

You'd make a mistake if you were to not consider cycling one of hardest sports.

MateXXs - January 17, 2019, 12:22 pm

Best sport in the world ?

Well, every country have something that their citizens believe to be number 1 sport.

You can re-phrase your question by asking " Which sport is mostly viewed by world population" ?

"Football / Soccer"
