

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Steam Hacking

CommanderKirov - August 28, 2016, 5:07 am

Steam is a digital distribution platform developed by Valve Corporation offering digital rights management (DRM), multiplayer gaming and social networking services.

On december 9th, 2015, Steam has introduced Mobile Guard Authenticator, this means that for every trade or logging in from new devices you will have to check your phone for a code sent by steam and type it into the logging panel.

I opened this thread so everyone could tell me their opinions about hacking Steam Accounts. This process does not only include getting the control over the steam account, but transferring their items to one of your accounts.

A lot of people said that the only way to get full control over an account is to social engineer your way in, but since Steam Support is absolute crap, I was thinking if there is a better way to get inside.

Kirov reporting ?

Wyatt Garcia - August 28, 2016, 5:35 am

There is still some methods of stealing skins even if authenticator is enabled :)

You can check My signature for more information.

RatHair - August 28, 2016, 8:34 am

I vouch for Aecy's ebook it's working at least for me.