Thread: [\[FREE\] Method to make money by publishing on Amazon!! Potentially make 100's](#)

Angelus - August 29, 2016, 9:45 pm

Hi guys, my name is Angelus Mortis (duh)

I have a small method to share with you guys today, its quick, simple, and depending on how fast you are on a computer, takes less than an hour.

Most of us know Amazon can be used as a platform for small authors to make money off thier KDP (kindle direct publishing) program. But not many know how easy it is to make potentially 100's to 1,000's using this. Once you publish a book, it stays there, thus technically making it an autopilot way of bringing in cash

My method: Publish cookbooks on Amazon

Now look, before you say, "cookbooks!? The fuck?!", hear my method to my madness.

This an extremely quick way of making money because you dont need your own recipies, you can literally copy/paste recipies from other sites.

"B-but thats plagrism!! Jail-" let me stop you right there....

Food recipies are NOT protected by US copyright laws and can be freely used without consent (unlike date rape drugs, yea... im looking at you Cosby...)

If you go to Food Network.com, you see pro recipies, now just copy and paste ONLY the parts with:

-needed materials

-steps

This is VERY important, also... avoid unique adjectives such as "mouthwatering" or "savory" because that is written by the chef themselves, or article writer, and that IS protected by copyright. Use a Thesaurus, not too hard lol.

At this point, you have the recipies, (in a .txt file preferably) and you are ready to publish. But first, look at the description of the meal, this is where you gotta get creative. Use similar phrases and words in your description and do not word for word copy it.

Now look up Amazon KDP.

Follow the steps on the site, and create your chapters and paste in the recipies.

Now after ALL that is done, do the title like a dramaalert video AND CLICKBAIT name it, get the attention of others like using words "low budget" or "cheap easy meals"

After that, price your book at NO LOWER than 2.99$

And there ya go, easy, autopilot cash without breaking the law ! :D

Of course you need to read Amazons shit and terms/whatnot, but after that is understood, link it with your Paypal and money made from your book will be transfered there via. EFT transfer.

Thank you very much for reading this, its my first EVER tutorial, so im sorry if its messy and unorganized.

Amazon doesnt pay you right away, as far as i know its a 30-60 day gap from when they pay you, but i could be wrong. Just check it out and see fir yourself, they make it a pretty simple process

I will give it a try in few days and let you know how it goes!

Please do! It would be awesome to see others make money off of this method

OddestFuture - September 4, 2016, 8:41 pm

I'll set this up tomorrow or later tonight and see how it goes man. I'm actually looking to earn AGC for something that cost $450 lol.

I'm thinking I will either do Usd>BTC>agc to buy the product to get it at a cheaper price or just use something like this to buy it!

Thanks man for sharing!

Can anyone verify that this works and the payments actually go through?

Itll take a while, Danny Khalifa said he will let me know if this works and I will put his response on the OP, try it out though, its not a massive waste of time, about an hour or so in total.

How many recipes do you think should go in one book?

20, and they should all relate to one another (holiday, turkey etc.)

Just make them relate to the theme of your book
