Thread: And I thought E-whoring was dead..

So, recently I decided to give E-whoring a shot again.

I once did it a lot, but with almost no profit. Now it seems that after people have assumed it's a saturated way to earn money, the market has yet again shown different.

Personally I made 125$ yesterday, and tonight I was very successful with 269$?

So for anyone out there thinking it's dead, give it a shot!

How long did you spend actually e-whoring to get that amount of money?

I have never tried this but I have seen a lot of people making so much money from it.

Well. All I can say is, it really is worth it to use a lot of time finding newer and less used chatrooms.
All this can be done by some simple searching, and trying :)

Try it out!

I would but I honestly don't have much free time.

Tried it once, but to little profit, made £100 or so over a week, died inside due to the level of desperation of the people I was talking to and stopped after that.
