Hello Guys,

I want someone to crack for me the the ETE Simulator Software by bypassing the online registration using ollydbg.

The software official website is : vumingo . com

I have the software already installed on my computer.

I can pay 100$ via PayPal Victoire

Regards,

can anyone get this program? "
action-pro-studio"
from actionillustrated \(dot\) com

yes i will pay you alexcargos - July 9, 2019, 12:48 am to download or to cracked?

gwerbyn - July 11, 2019, 12:15 pm

I will try to crack it because why not deathknight - July 16, 2019, 10:35 am

Hello everyone, first of all i'm not sure if this is the right place to request cracks, but I'll post here because this post is more than that.

This program is called "LIDC" from lidcmultiboxing\(dot\)com, it allows the user to play multiple characters easily on a lot of online games, wonderful program.

So it is a trial, and now that I deactivated my Credit Card I can't buy it, not to mention it's a yearly subscription which I really hate even if I could.

Basically I used it for the whole 30 day trial and fell in love with it, I want to ask you guys how to either reset the trial or request your help to crack it :

When you install the program, it asks for your name, e-mail, country and serial number to activate, alternatively you can press the "start trial" button on the left side. When you do the program sends a mail message to the e-mail you posted, containing a trial serial number. You then enter it and the program is licensed for you for 30 days. Now once your trial is over, and you start the program, and you try to register again (to the same e-mail, or different e-mail doesn't matter) you receive an error code message "trial has been already installed" after you press "start trial" button. It seems like it's doing an online check as well, because when the internet is disabled it displays a connection error and it can't know that the program was installed on my pc.

Now what did I try ?

1-Obviously reinstalling, searching "lidx" in registry and deleting all keys, searching anything relevant in C:\programdata and %appdata% and %temp%. deleted all nothing works.

2-Uninstalling using revo uninstaller, which can extract a lot of hidden files/keys and delete them as well. But didn't work either

3-Installed the program freshly on a Virtualbox windows, did registry shots before and after, did file scans before and after. I still couldn't find what the program uses to identify that it has been installed on the computer before.

4-Installed the program freshly on another real computer, with reg shots and files shots. Still can't get it

So I'm not exactly sure if it uses a file/key on my computer to know it's been here before, or it sends my MAC address to the software server? I'm really new at this and tried to get it work without any success.

I wish to hear good tips from you guys, or have the software cracked.

Thanks for your time.

I must say you did try a lot ,but what about sniffing the traffic. Maybe they use your IP address (the one from your router wan interface)!

Is there a chance that the wan IP address is private (high level of NAT)? In that case, It will ban other users with that IP as well .

Hey, yes I did. Well I did try also to try to activate the program using a trial VPN that changed my location to somewhere in Germany, with the same result :/ I'm not sure if that is what you meant though.

It's probably collecting information from your computer and building an hwid to identify your computer. This information will then be used to determine if it's going to grant you a trial or not, server side. That's the safest way of offering a trial to counter misuse. You have to reverse the application to actually find your answers. You can then either hook one or more apis related to the hwid creation process and feed it gibberish data, or you can grab the data of a valid response, decrypt it and make it static within a code cave after decryption occurs. Another option is to simply crack it without dealing with the hwid or responses at all, but to do this it requires that the application doesn't rely on some necessary data it needs to run on successful auth.

Thank you for your very informative reply, I wish I knew more how to accomplish these tasks because they're too advance for my limited knowledge in programming. I'll try to look up quick guides for every one of the options you provided, and see if I get lucky. Thank you again

I have a question for Sonic Foundry Batch Converter.

It is an too old program and I haven't found any version for it, but I am trying to look for a full verison. And even Sony support can't help me with that, the program is so old that the support together with its file format is no longer getting developed apperantly. So I would like to request a patch for Sonic Foundry Batch Converter.

The sfs4rw.dll contains the process of the license key and all such. I was able to bypass it for a bit, but I was not able to figure out how to get past that regristration window.

I would appreciate if you could help me with that request. I'm open for all questions. I'm not sure how to bypass the part of the regristration, apperantly at the end it requires a registry file.
