Thread: Personal Experience and Advice on PokeMobBot No Ban w/ Snipe

Physicist - September 1, 2016, 1:59 pm

I've been testing out Herbert's PokeMobBot setting, if you scroll down and look for it you'll find it.

*EDIT: Just navigate HERE to get to his thread

I botted an account for a week straight without getting a single IP ban. It was a miracle. Yes of course, it's not gonna be fast but I was able to get up to 25. I left it there for 4 extra days, botting on and off and yet NO BAN.

The crazy thing is that I enabled snipe and caught 11 Dragonites.

I'm not sure if people do the same thing and get ban, but here's my personal advice.

1) DO NOT BOT AT THE DEFAULT SETTINGS OR POPULAR ONES. That means no Times Square, Santa Monica Pier or Disneyland in Japan.

2) Try to...bot at universities. I've been running 2 bots at 2 different universities and it hasn't been banned. One of them is where I am currently at.

3) Also, what proxies do I use? Instantproxies.com

4) Cap your level below 27. I usually bot till 25 and stop. This of course is only if you're selling your accounts. You can bot more but...I'm not guarantee no ban.

Sorry I can't provide the time image because I didn't know it'd work. I didn't even want to have a test. I just wanted to bot and have fun. If you don't trust me, don't take my advice.

Good luck everyone, I hope this helps
I will update threads if there are more advices

He has said that he is using the bot Herbert the Pervert posted (pokemobot) if you search the section you will find it.

Nice share OP this will help a lot of users out. I have been using his configs and I haven't had a ban yet either. I usually bot the accounts to level 25.

I could do yes, but if you download the config that Herbert made its there.

I'm not at my computer right now so I can't send you it. But just search for Hebert the pervert and you will find it.

If you can't find it PM later.

You just need to change the device ID. Every time you bot a new account I would recommend you change this. If not all of the account which were on the same device may end up getting banned.

Just delete a few of the numbers/letters and put your own in there.

I don't think there is anything else.

Hey bud not to kick a dead horse but do you think the market for bottled accounts is still a viable market? I'm thinking of starting up and selling accounts to people at my own university

Physicist - September 3, 2016, 4:53 pm

Yes, I definitely think it is still a viable market.
I will add in my thread about the limitation on levels thanks Jamiee, on top of various other things
